Rumors persist that General Trevino, who has been summoned to the capital, will become provisional president, but confirmation is lacking and this report is offset by another that General Huerta has called in most of the retired officers and many of those on detached service to report for duty.

General Felfx Diaz, who started for Japan as special Mexican ambassador, also is said to have received a summons to return to the capital.

The future course of this government will be one of non-interference, in the hope that the effect of its present efforts and the pressure of foreign governments will constitute a moral suasicn that ultimately will bring about peace in Mexico.

Washington, August 25 .- An agriculiral currency amendment to the administration currency bill was adouted by the house democratic caucus to-day. After several preliminary skirmshes, in which other amendments were beaten, the caucus, without a dissent-ing vote, adopted an amendment, agreed to both by the "insurgent" contingent and banking and currency committee to put paper based on agri ultural products on the same basis s commercial paper for banking pur

Text of the Amendment.

The amendment, the result of many conferences and concurred in by ad-ministration leaders and those unsuc-cessfully seeking other amendments, reads:

"Upon the indorsement of any member bank, any federal reserve bank may discount notes and bills of exchange arising out of commercial transactions, that is, notes and bills of exchange issued or drawn for agricultural, industrial or commercial purposes or the proceeds of which have been used for such purposes or the proceeds of which have been used or may be used for such to establish an attendance record that purposes the federal reserve board to have the right to determine or define the character of the paper thus eligible for discount, within the meaning of this act. But such definition shall not include notes or bills issued or drawn for the purpose of carrying or trading in stocks, bonds or other investment securities, nor shall anything herein contained, be construed to prohibit such notes and bills of exchange, secured by staple agricultural products or other goods, wares or merchandise from being eligible for such discount.

or merchandise from being eligible for such discount...
"Notes and bills admitted to discount under the terms of this paragraph must have a maturity of not more than ninety days.

"We have won all we contended for," was the comment of Representative Neeley, of Kansas, in charge of the opposition to the bill.

The season record of paid attendance is now held by Atlanta, 196,000. The local club hopes to surpass this figure this season. "Two hundred thousand and Birmingham must be beaten" is the slogan that is being adopted.

With the contesting for the pennant at such an interesting point, the attendance should be large for the remainder of the season, but the fact that Birmingham is again challenging Atlanta's right to be called the best ball town in the Southern league has awakened an enthuslasm akin to the pennant scrap.

C. F. von HERRMANN,

CONSTITUTION'S EXTRA TELLS ATLANTA OF THE VERDICT IN FRANK CASE

Within three minutes after Foreman Fred Winburn had announced the verdict of guilty in the Frank trial, The Constitution's extra, giving full details of incidents in the courtroom during the entire time the jury was deliberating, and all exclusive facts after that dramatic moment,

It was conceded that The Constitution's extra was the most complete issue of the day. Not only did it flash to the anxious readers of Atlanta the first news that Frank had been doomed, but it also went to the suburban districts and out on every train leaving the city.

This piece of enterprise was made possible by having a corps of well-trained newspaper men on the scene, and having every arrangement made beforehand to cover the verdict without the waste of a single

It will be remembered that the news of the tragic death of Mary Phagan was first told to the people of the city by an extra issued by The Constitution on the morning of April 27, within a short time after the body was found in the basement of the National Pencil company.

GUILTY, DECLARES JURY

The following chronological history of the life of Leo M. Frank is taken from his statement to the jury, made August 18: April 17, 1884, born in Paris, Texas.

July, 1884, taken by parents to live in Brooklyn, N. Y. June, 1902, graduated from Pratt institute, a Brooklyn high school. September, 1902, entered Cornell university, Ithaca, N. Y. June, 1906, graduated from Cornell.

July, 1906, accepted position as draftsman with B. F. Sturtevant company, of High Park, Mass. January, 1907, became testing engineer and draftsman for the National Meter company, of Brooklyn. October, 1907, came to Atlanta to confer with friends here about establishment of a pencil company.

December, 1907, went to Europe to study the pencil business. August, 1908, returned from Europe and came directly to Aflanta, where he has remained ever since, as superintendent of the National Pencil factory.

October, 1910, married to Miss Lucile Selig, daughter of Mr. and Mrs Emil Selig, and went to live with his wife's parents at 68 East Georgia avenue.

April 26, 1913, paid off Mary Phagan at the factory office. April 27, 1913, notified early in the morning by officers to come to his factory. Visited morgue and saw the girl's body and then went to factory.

April 28, 1913, gives first statement to detectives at police station April 29, 1913, arrested on suspicion of the crime.

May 1, 1913, bound over by the coroner's jury on charge of murder of Mary Phagan and taken to the Tower. May 24, 1913, indicted by the Fulton grand jury for the murder.

· July 28, 1913, his trial begins. August 18, 1913, makes statement to jury. August 25, 1913, found guilty.

Friends Tell Frank in Tower Of Jury's Verdict of Guilty; Prisoner Cheers Weeping Wife

Frank knew of the jury's verdict. Seated in his quarters in the Tower, the prisoner and his wife chatted of things to come in the future. They smiled and appeared happy at both smiled and appeared nappy at the apparent thought that the set-ting sun would bring him freedom. In the office of Sheriff Mangum, lo-cated on the first floor of the Tower, Rabbi Marx and a group of stanch friends of the accused debated as to whom would bring the message and shatter the one remaining ray of hope they had buoyed up in the prisoner. Several close friends of Frank, including Dr. Rosenberg, the family physician, were summoned on the telephone and asked to hasten to the prison and convey the news to the prisoner. A great crowd gathered in front of the Tower, but it was an orderly gathering composed for the most part of negro men and women who had gathered at the same spot night and morning to get a glimpse of the prisoner as he went from and returned to the jail after an all-day

As Rabbi Marx, followed closely by Doctor Rosenberg, entered the cell, Frank left his seat to greet them. If he anticipated any news he did not betray it in his greeting.

"I am glad you came up," Frank assured his family physician. Rabbi Marx, solemn and dejected Habbi Marx, solemn and dejected, moved to where Dr. B. Wildauer and other friends were seated. There were traces of tears in his eyes. "Leo, the Jury has found you guilty," Dr. Rosenberg said.

WAITS WITH WIFE IN TOWER FOR NEWS FROM COURTROOM; FRIENDS TELL HIM VERDICT

"I Am as Innocent Today as I Was One Year Ago," He Cries-"The Jury Has Been Influenced by Mob Law"-"I Am Stunned by News," Declares Rabbi Marx, One of Prisoner's Closest Friends—Defense Plans to Carry Case to Supreme Court in Order to Secure New Trial-Judge Roan Will Defer Sentence For a Few Days.

OVATION FOR JURY AND SOLICITOR GIVEN BY CROWD WAITING ON STREET

Judge Roan Thanks Jurymen for Services During Four Long, Hard Weeks, and Tells Members He Hopes They Will Find Their Families Well-Courtroom Was Cleared by Order of Judge Before Jury Was Brought in to Give Its Verdict-"I'm Sorry for Frank's Wife and His Mother," Says Solicitor Dorsey.

Leo M. Frank, superintendent of the National Pencil factory; president of the B'nai B'rith, graduate of Cornell university, student of literature, and until recently regarded as a man of unblemished character and reputation, and a leader among his people, has been declared guilty of the murder of Mary Phagan, a 13-year-old employee of the factory of which Frank is the head. At 4 minutes to 5 o'clock a jury of his peers filed slowly into the courtroom, which for four weeks has been the scene of the greatest legal battle in the history of the state. The room had been cleared of the morbidly curious who for days have listened to the fierce fight for and against the young man. Only the newspaper men, Sheriff Mangum, his deputies, Solicitor Dorsey and Frank Hooper, a few lawyers and some close personal friends of the defendant were in the room.

VERDICT WAS EASY TO READ.

On the face of each juror was the drawn look of men who had been compelled, through duty, to do an awful thing-to consign a fellow creature to the gallows. There was no mistaking that look. The strongest of the men shook as if some strange ailment had stricken them.

It took no student of human nature to read that the verdict was the ultimate one of guilt.

A hush fell over the courtroom. The scraping of a chair across the floor, the rustle of a fan, the shuffling of a foot would have been welcome sounds. The silence was fearsome. Slowly, with voice that trembled, Fred Winburn, foreman of the jury, read the verdict. Immediately there was the hustle and bustle of reporters and strident voices calling out "guilty" over the telephones to Atlanta's

JUDGE THANKS THE JURY.

Just after the ballot was polled Judge Roan said:

"Gentlemen, I am now taking leave of you. You have been here for a month, and it has been a hard and trying time for all of us. "Gentlemen, I want to thank you for your faithful service and consideration of all details in this most arduous case."

The judge's voice broke at this point, but bravely collecting his composure, he continued:

"Gentlemen, I hope you find your families well." Frank was not in the courtroom.

Luther Rosser, Reuben Arnold or Herbert Haas, attorneys for the defense, were not present when the verdict was read. I ch was in his residence, recuperating from the weeks of terrific strain undergone in their masterful fight. They were represented by Stiles Hopkins, a member of Rosser's firm, and Luther Z. As Bells Tolled, Dorsey Closed Magnificent Argument Which Fastened Crime on Frank

As the big bell in the Catholic would not let her come there again church tolled the hour of 12 o'clock He says she was brought by her two brothers in-law and Rabbi Marx. Yet Solicitor Dorsey concluded his remarkable plea for the conviction of Leo Frank with the dreadful words-"Guilty, guilty, guilty!"

It was just at this hour more than five months ago that little Mary Phagan entered the pencil factory to draw her pittance of $1.20.

The tolling of the bell and the dread sound of the words cut like a chill to the hearts of many who shivered involuntarily. It was the conclusion of the most remarkable speech which has ever been delivered in the Fulton county courthouse-a speech which will go down in history stamping Hugh Dorsey as one of the greatest prosecuting attorneys

Arnold Makes Protest.

Only after Attorney Reuben R. Ar-nold had registered a vigorous protest against the action of the spectators who clapped their hands in tumultuous applause as Solicitor Hugh Dorsey entered the courtroom Monday morning was the solicitor allowed to continue his speech which was interrupted by adjournment Saturday.

When court convened at 9 o'clock there were more people outside of the courthouse unable to gain admission than there were inside and about two minutes before the hour of opening court a roar of cheers told the spectators inside that the solicitor was coming. His entrance was the signal for the outbreak of approval of his wonderful effort Saturday.

Mr. Arnold immediately protested and declared that such outbreaks had no ace in a court of justice.

"Mr. Sheriff," said Judge Roan from the bench when order had been restored, "I see that there is a large crowd in here and that many of them do not seem to understand what is required of them in a courtroom. If there is the least disturbance after the jury comes in, I want you to clear the room of all but officials.

"We don't want to spoil the work of four weeks by any unseemly actions at this time and we are not going to al-

w such disturbance."

The jury was then brought in and the solicitor took up his speech. Mr. Dorsey's voice was hoarse when he started and it seemed as though he had received no refreshment from the rest over Sunday. Like a long distance runner who has kept a hard pace during the race and who at the finish is staggering toward the goal line and "running on his nerve," the solicitor renewed his attack on the defense. As he went on his throat seemed to get better and his vocal cords ap-peared to loosen up. He was continually harassed during the morning, however, by Attorneys Arnold and Rosser, who declared he was making false statements and that parts of his speech were "improper and insulting."

"Gentlemen of the jury," began the solicitor, "I am even more exhausted this morning than I was Saturday. My throat is in such shape that I fear I cannot finish this case or do justice

'Had we had an adjournment Saturday, I might have finished and his honor might have charged you, so that you might have brought in your verdict this morning and been free.

Renews Attack on Statement.

"There is no evidence anywhere that she ever went to see her husband at the station house, and I tell you, gentlemen of the jury, that a true wife ever lived who would refuse to go to see her husband when he was in such trouble as that, provided she be-lieved him innocent. No wife, believed ing her husband innocent, would hesitate to face snapshotters, interviewers or detectives to get to see her husband."

Defense Attorneys Object.

"Your honor," interrupted Mr. Arnold, "we have sat here and listened to one of the most unfair speeches I have ever heard and we have kept silent, but we do object to this unwaranted attack on the defendant's wife.'

Solicitor Dorsey submitted that part of Frank's statement to the jury where he claimed that his wife did visit him at police station, then he submitted that the defense had not tried to prove it by other witnesses, and declared that he was making no attack on the wife, but merely stating why she had not visited her husband. Judge Roan allowed him to go on.

"Let the galled jade wince, we-" began the solicitor in a powerful voice, which he apparently did not have when he began his argument. "Now, your honor, I do object to that," interrupted Mr. Arnold, "when we make a legal objection to the solicitor's statements, he has no right to say, Let the galled jade wince." Attorney Rosser also registered an objection.

The solicitor was allowed to go on with his speech and the defense made a formal objection to the court against that part of it.
Mr. Dorsey then took up another feature of Frank's statement.

"Frank said that Conley could write and he adds, 'I have received too many notes from him asking to borrow money for me not to know that. Frank also corroborates Conley's statement in regard to the watch which Conley was buying on the installment plan and Frank says he gave the in-formation to the police that Conley could write and the police and detecives have told you that he did not and Harry Scott, Franks' own detective, has told you that Frank never gave him his information.

"If Frank knew, as he says he did, that Conley could write, why didn't he tell the police that? Scott declares to you that Frank never mentioned the subject.

"Gentlemen, it was only when the detectives, after laborious effort and de-spite Frank's silence, found out that the negro who was denying he could to him. write, could really do so, that they ob-tained from him his first affidavit in which he told part of the things that happened that day.

"Frank says to you that he knew Conley could write. Then why did not be tell the police of that fact, when he snew that the murder notes were beock this mystery?

Dorsey Turns to Frank.

"By your own statement," continued the solicitor, addressing Frank, "you saw the notes at the station house that Sunday morning when the body was found, and you said not a word about knowing that Conley could write; venience you uselessly and, too, I you never said it then and you never haven't the strength to carry it out.

"There are, however, certain parts yet you knew that the notes tried to

"Well, I won't discuss that farther; it's not necessary," continued the so-licitor. He then took up another phase of the statement made by the defend-visit that Conley made to the jail with the jury, that you would let a man the police when Conley wanted to confront him that he did not see Conley were innocent, that you would let Ross because he wanted first to get permission of his attorney, Mr. Rosser, who was trying a case at Tallulah Falls that day, and he says that if he could have got Mr. Rosser's permission that he would have seen Conley or anybody lse that day, but I tell you, gentleen, that Mr. Rosser got back from allulah in a few hours, and yet Frank

Again Turns On Frank.

"Then you," (he pointed to Frank) went and interviewed Newt Lee at who did not know the truth and who wanted to learn it? Did you go into wanted to learn it? Did you go into the room and take up the questioning saxon race and never in the history of the African race in this country, did a legro accuse a white man and that white man, with Anglo-Saxon blood in the room and take up the questioning of the negro in a way to get some thing out of him, out of him, the man you would have hung in order to save your reputation on Washington save your reputation on Washington street and in the B'nai B'rith?

"The reason Frank never questioned continued the solicitor, turning to the jury, "was because he knew who was guilty and he knew that he was already adding to the infamous assault and murder of the gil, an attempt to send this negro to the gaiows in order to save his own neck. Mr. Dorsey then read Frank's statement in regard to the spots found on the second floor by Christopher Columbus Barrett and said to have been that part where Frank said that accidents were frequent there and that many of them were never even reported, and that the girls often car-ried buckets of red varnish by that place and that it frequently spilled

"Why was it that when Frank had read in the morning paper that Barrett had discovered the blood spots on the second floor, that he, the superintendent, who had been anxious to solve the mystery that he had tele-phoned three times for Schiff to hire the Pinkertons, did not go back to see those spots until Lemmie Quinn ame after him. "That was a strange way for an in

I'll tell you why; if there was any spot on earth where the man did not want it to be known that blood had been found, it was on the second floor, where, according to his own statement, he was working at the time the girl was killed.

"And it's insulting," added Mr. Ros-ser; "insulting to us and to the jury." "I want your honor to rule that out and to reprimand the solicitor," con-

Nervousness Not Natural. "Well, I want to take up the question of Frank's nervousness again. You remember that on that afternoon of Memorial day that Newt Lee, who had been told to come early, came back like the dutiful darkey he was, and found Frank washing his hands. Frank was waiting there then for Conley to come and burn the body and Frank did not want Newt around, so he made Newt go out into town and that when Newt told him he was sleepy and wanted to find a comfortable corner anywhere in the building.

"Frank wanted to get Lee away so might never solve that Phagan mysery; might never know that the breath of suspicion, and he is Mr. Keltery; might never know that the girlley, a street car man, who rods with had ever entered the factory that day. "Frank's nervousness was pro duced by one cause only, the con-sciousness of his infamous crime. Old man Newt Lee says that when he went back that afternoon he found the inside door locked, something he had never found before. Newt also says that that night when he went down into the basement, he found the light flickering low. Do you think for a minute that Jim Conley would have turned down that light? No. But, I tell you that Frank did it when he found Conley was not coming back to burn the body.

Why Conley Was in Jail. "Let's see something about what William Smith, Jim Conley's attorney, has set up about the rule which Judge Roan gave in regard to Conley's imprisonment. The police, be it inder-stood, may be no better than the sheriff of our county, but they are just as good.

Smith says that Conley, in police station, is perfectly safe from a standpoint of physical welfare, and that, under such imprisonment, is far safer. No one has been allowed to see him. He has been protected from physical harm and false claims. He says that plans have been laid detri-mental to the carrying out of justice so far as Conley is concerned. "Sufficient inside guards were not provided in the Tower. Only one man was paid to guard the entire five stories which contain twenty cell blocks. The legal sense of the m 'malice is not confined to paranimosity to the deceased, but extends to ar evil design in general. The popular 'dea of malice in its sense of revenge hatred, ill-will, has nothing to do with the subject. It is an intent to kill a human being in a case where the law would neither justify or in any degree excuse the intenion if the killing should take place as intended. It is a deliberate intent un-lawfully to take human life, whether it springs from hatred, ill-will or revenge, ambition, avarice or other like passion. A man may form the 'ntent to kill, do the killing instantly, and regret the deed as soon as done. Malice must exize at the time of the kill-

CONTINUOUS SENATE SESSIONS.

Today at noon in the city of Washing ton the senate will be called to order, will sit and talk a few hours, and will then adjourn to meet again tomorrow at noon to sit and talk a few more hours. Meanwhile business is at a standstill, waiting to see what is going to happen.

In a letter published elsewhere on this page, Edward H. Walker, a real estate dealer of this city, expresses vigorously the sentiment of business men everywhere, regardless of party affiliation.

The democrats are in the majority in the senate, and it is their duty to see to it that this tariff talkfest is brought to a close.

Nobody expects them to apply unreasonable methods to bring the debate to an end, but since it is plain that most of the talk to which the country is now being that debate is being prolonged only to delay action on the tariff, it is the duty of ers free rein by holding CONTINUOUS SESSIONS.

The senate has the right to adopt this order, and if it acts accordingly it will not be long before those who, at the sacrifice of business, are playing politics in the consideration of this measure, will be ready to agree to a vote. At any rate, it will expedite a vote.

By all means, therefore, let us have continuous sessions of the senate until the tariff bill is disposed of.

AN INTERESTING RESEARCH.

What no mere man would attempt the Pennsylvania railroad has undertaken to accomplish. They believe the hobble skirt is guilty of contributory negligence, and have entered the crusade against this article of woman's dress. The Paris arbiters of fashion may not have heard of the action of the Pennsy's board of directors, but in designing sli skirts, or "expose" skirts of any kind to free women's lower limbs from the hobble, the autocrats of the fashion world have the road's best wishes.

The indictment is not only against the hobble skirt, but high French heels. The road officials hold these accessory before the fact to many accidents. Conductors, trainmen and station employees are directed to note particularly the dress of womer hurt in getting on and off trains and in going up and down stairways.

With the statistics thus compiled the road expects to prove its charge of contributory negligence.

NERVOU'SNESS ON INCREASE.

When people are well they are not aware that they have nerves. This is true of city folk, who live at a high tension, and it is true of country folk who take things

A certain degree of nervousness is a necessity. It is the high-strung, rather than the stolid, who achieve the greatest things in the arts and the sciences. There is a point, however, beyond which the nerves cannot go without breaking down. Intensification of energy finally has to give way to prostration of the nerves.

Science has not yet thrown any great light on the difference between genius and nervous disorders; nor has it fully determined the cause of nerve prostration further than to suggest that it may be due to not an extraditable offense.

environment. The noise of the city may drive one person to the brink of insanity, while the loneliness of the country has similar effect upon another.

Human lives are being needlessly wasted every day in city and country, when proper attention might modify and improve conditions to the immense advantage of the human family.

In hundreds of homes in Atlanta, this very day, some one is suffering from deranged nerves. Scores of people come to the city daily, from the country to be treated at the various hospitals and by private physicians, for disordered nerves. What is true of Atlanta is true of other rapidly-growing cities. What is true of rural sections in Georgia is true of rural sections in other states.

What are we going to do about it?

KEEPING UP THE ROADS. Much of the money spent on good roads

s being wasted because adequate provision is not made for keeping the improved roads in repair. This fact is brought home by a timely warning issued by the office of public roads of the United States department of agriculture. It shows that maintenance and effective repair are of equal importance with construction if the advantage of improved highways is to be enjoyed.

It is estimated that $1,000,000 a day are being spent for good roads throughout the United States. Not less than 5 per cent of this amount should be provided for upkeep and repair. Failure to provide an adequate fund for keeping the roads in condition is false economy.

More widespread interest is being taken n road improvement throughout the United States than ever before. Scientific maintenance of roads will next engage the attention of the road engineers who have concentrated their attention heretofore on the problems of construction.

Divided responsibility partly explains the reason for road deterioration, but the failure to put scientific and experienced men in general charge of the road work is at the bottom of the difficulty.

In Engand, Scotland and Wales, it is said no less than 2,140 separate authorities administer 175,487 miles of public road. While the authorities dispute, roads wear.

A skilled highway engineer should be employed by every state in the union. He should be there not only to consult, but to supervise and direct.

ATLANTA'S HOSPITALS.

The city of Atlanta may justly feel proud of her physicians: general practition ers, specialists, and surgeons, many of whom enjoy well-earned reputations that are either state-wide or national.

Atlanta may also congratulate herself on having become the hospital center of a vast section of our southeastern country. Although the city has a large number of hospitals, public and private, they are generally crowded to the limit of their capacity with patients from everywhere east of Texas and south of Baltimore. As a general thing the hospitals of Atlanta are scientifically constructed, well equipped, and properly managed. Thoutreated is for political purposes only, and sands of patients who have been treated, or who have had to undergo operations, go home well, and become enthusiastic advertisers of Atlanta physicians and Atlanta nurses.

> Of the city of Atlanta, itself, they usually speak in the highest terms-with a single very important exception. They say the streets around our hospitals are not properly paved to keep the noise of traffic at a minimum, and that unnecessary speed and sounds are allowed in close proximity to the hospitals.

> In other cities, with hospitals such as Atlanta has, there are hospital zones, in which noisy drays are not allowed, in which the speed of motor cars and motorcycles regulated, and in which unnecessarily loud signals of motor and electric > cars are not permitted. The city of Atlanta has the power to create and regulate hospital zones. The city and the hospitals, working together, can properly repave the streets adjacent to the hospitals. In the interest of the city and in the interest of suffering humanity these things should be done here

BUYING AT HOME.

"If the people of this town would just buy everything at home," remarked the retired merchant, "it would be better for the community than all the legislation that could be framed in a thousand years. Loyalty to home industries is something we hear much about, but few people live up to it."

"I agree with you in a general way, doggone it," replied the hotelkeeper, "but there are exceptions to every rule. I just saw Kersmith driving past this hotel behind a horse he bought of old Quackenbush. Of course we should praise Kersmith for spending his money at home when he buys a horse, but if he had any sense he would go away from home, and the farther away the better, when he has such a commercial transaction in mind. Half the pleasure in owning a horse lies in bragging about him, telling your friends of his phenomenal bursts of speed and his human intelligence and all that sort of thing. If your horse comes from a distance you can get away with that kind of elocution, for nobody has the statistics to prove that you belong to the Ananias club

But there's no use of Kersmith trying anything of that sort. The minute he begins to tell what a superb creature that horse is, somebody will say: 'Oh, come off, Mr. Kersmith. I knew that horse before were born, and believe me, if somebody left him on my doorstep in a basket l wouldn't adopt him. He is a stumpsucker and a weaver, and has a glass eye and the barber's itch, and he is spavined in three legs and the other one doesn't track right.

"In a month from now Kersmith will realize that he knows less about his own horse than any man in town, and he'll be so discouraged he'll trade his steed for a shotgun and the next thing we know he'll be arrested for trying to blow old Quakenbush's head off. A horse is one thing that no man should buy at home, no matter how loyal to home institutions he may be.

"A horse is a good deal like a bride that way. I have always held that a man is a doggone chump if he marries a girl living in his own town. The fellow goes to the other end of the country for blushing bride feels like a conquering hero when he returns to his own town. Everybody is at the depot to have a squint at the heroine. Everybody is just crazy to know what denomination she belongs to and whether sue's an earnest worker in the federation of woman's clubs. The whole blamed town holds its breath for a month or two until the blue prints and specifications have been obtained, and the husband feels that he is the most important man in three

"The old gossips can't criticise his wife, for they don't know anything about her, and the wise men in the corner drugstore, when they hold their evening consultations over local affairs, can't well insist that the bridegroom made a mistake when he married ner, and it's no use predicting an early divorce, for a prophet must have a platform to stand on.

"Of course, from a commercial viewpoint we should urge young men to marry at home, for the wedding festivities call for a good deal of money, and this money goes to our local confectioners and milliners and preachers, and these people pay taxes and help to support the home government but there are times when the most enthusiastic champions of the trade at home policy should draw the line for their own benefit. "If a young man marries a girl who lives in his own town, everybody says that the wedding was a mistake. The two are not suited to each other in any way. The bride has an ugly temper, and her face is hand-painted, and she bought her sunny tresses at the store, and she smokes cigarettes in secret, and she doesn't know h to cook, and she drove her parents to drink, and she was expelled from the jerkwater college on the hill, and so on. How can a husband be happy when he knows the neigh bors are saying such things? He can't and he isn't, and pretty soon he loses heart and sends a rush order for a divorce to his favorite mail order house."

Boys Are Always Boys.

(From The Indianapolis News.) That English boys of ninety years ago-there never was any doubt as to American boys of that or any other period before or after-had romantic ideas as to becoming ruthless robbers by land or pirates on the high seas is shown by a recently discovered speech made by Charles Dickens and reported in The London Times of April 13, 1864, from which the following quotation from The London Dickensonian for August is taken: 'Mr. Dickens said his first recollections of the northwest of London (this was in 1824, when he was 12 years old), were connected a certain waste plot of ground used almost exclusively for beating carpets. The only ornaments of the locality were a piece of stagnant water, a few straggling docks and some stunted greens. With it, however, was associated the romantic story of the Field of the Forty Footsteps, according to which a duel had been fought there between wo brothers, the forty dreadful paces over which the victor pursued his victim being marked by the withering up of the grass in forty distinct places. Dickens had often ne there, he said, accompanied by an adventurous young Englishman, aged 11, with whom he had intended going to the Spanish Main as soon as ever they could amass sufficient wealth to buy a cutlass and a rifle.' The University of London afterward was erected on this site. Dickens as a boy in April, 1827, saw the cornerstone laid and the ceremony of laying the first stone of new and splendid public building," of which Mr. Pecksniff was the architect, as narrated in "Martin Chuzzlewit," was a reminiscence of this event.

Military Music. (Berlin Correspondence of London Standard)

The method of pronouncing orders to the troops in the German army is to be entirely evolutionized. Instead of any one being fully qualified to utter commands, provided he does not suffer from a stutter or other linguistic trouble, he will now apparently have to know his scales. The kaiser has been considerably exercised in his mind he cause most times the orders are barbarously distorted, and many of the syllables of the words used remain in the instructor's throat. But worst of all, each non-commissioned of ficer has his own way of "pitching" his orders. Some while ago, Professor Spiess was instructed by the emperor to reform all this. After working for several months and laboring over the claims of the various notes natural and flat, the professor has finally found the note on which orders must be based—C natural. This is probably the first time that the enunciation of orders has been taken up scientifically; and there is a bad time ahead for "non-coms" who lack a musical ear.

The World's Mysteries DID DOM PEDRO MARRY INEZ DE CASTRO?

The romance of Dom Pedro, the Infante Portugal, and his amours with the famous estates in the south, but as soon as he heard the news he collected his retainers and made of Portugal, and his amours with the famous beauty, Inez de Castro, sounds every note in the gamut of the narrative from the tragic to the absurd-all of them, moreover, strange sidelights upon the character not only of the royal persons involved in them but upon that of the epoch in which they

There are two mysteries connected with the romantic love story of Dom Pedro and Inez. Were they really married? The Infante always claimed they were, and when he came to the throne he took a herrible revenge upon the murderers of Inez. It would seem hard to doubt the young man's own statement, but then it must be remembered that he was a very strongheaded fellow. and there is a possibility that he insisted that he was Inez de Castro's husband to spite his father

Why did he hate his father? In the very first place, because he compelled him to marry Donna/Constance Manuel, a daughter of the Duke of Penafield, when he was only is years old. Almost from the first days of this marriage Dom Pero's heart was given to Inez de Castro. And when the wife died after a marriage of but a few years it was naturally expected that the Infante would boose another wife of royal blood. This, however, he absolutely refused to do.

When his father insisted that he should narry again there was a scene in the palwhereupon he announced that such a thing was impossible and that he had given his hand in marriage to Inez the 16th of September, 1354. This announcement so excited those at the head of the state that a urried council was called and it was determined that desperate measures must be taken to bring the prince to his senses. King Alphonso pleaded with his son, he ailed at him; the ministers pleaded; the give up Inez de Castro and would marry no one else. Months passed, and then the king letermined that the only way to end the passion was to remove the cause and he ook three courtiers into his confidence and directed them to murder Inez. The order was obeyed in the streets of Coimbra, January 7, 1355. At the time of

ACT-OR QUIT!

Editor Constitution: I have lost $4,000 in real estate commissions, approximately since the present congress began an effort of the money market resulting from tariff ncertainty, which has halted business.

My experience is the common experience of all classes of business men all over our country.

In a private conversation I asked the resident of one of the largest banks in Atanta what was his opinion as to the present ondition of business He very quickly stated that while the currency bill, now being considered, was not what he thought best as currency improvement measure, neverthe less, said he, "I've got to the point where I don't care what they pass, just so they (congress) passes something and let us ad-

This is a country of such great commercial resources we can prosper under any kind of a tariff or currency act that is at all reasonable, if only we can know what line or what law we've got to work under, so we can effect an adjustment to it.

Five months of talk and uncertainty over a tariff and currency revision is bringing our great country into a condition of business business panic that we cannot recover from many years, unless congress acts, and guits its present conduct of endless talk. The business men of our entire

MEDITATE. By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

The time and place to Mediate is at any ime and in any place. Meditation is an attribute of strength and greatness. To him who knows how to Meditate there is constantly being stored in his Mind a fine wealth of power. Improve through Meditation.

Meditation develops the great faculties the Mind-stimulates and arouses the Intagination. Meditation places in clear view before your eyes the best that is in you so that you may easily study out and evolve improvement. A noted painter, on being retrimanded for his careless habits in not completing a great picture for which had a contract, replied: "I am continually painting it within myself." Improve through Meditation.

You grow from within-out. And as you Meditate, your ideas multiply, your fallacies creep away, and the best of your thoughts are moulded into sound Judgment and strong Opinion. Most of the notable achievements in history started in quiet Meditation at the close of a day, after some disappointment, or during the odd moments of busy

Improve through Meditation. Take advantage of the daily chances for Meditation. They may prove to be the vital and supreme moments of your life as they have many times proved for many a notable career. But Meditate not on useless thoughts and trifles. Put your life plans frequently before yourself. Meditate upon them. Study their defects. Meditate, upon how to correct them. Search for ideas. Meditate before deciding. Meditate to grow.

No Such Simplicity.

(From The Washington Star.) There was never such a thing as "Jeffer-sonian simplicity." Mr. Jefferson was not a man of simple life, but of a full and expensive life. He was an aristocrat in all his personal tastes and indulged himself. He had traveled in Europe and observed how the trick was turned there. And both as secretary of state and as president he lived at the top of his time.

The First Balloons.

(From a Letter of William Beckford, 1783.) I suppose you heard of those strange invented in Paris, which rise into the air though incumbered with the weight of human animals. I wish we could procure one and travel together amongst the clouds. At night we would illuminate our flying palace and hover like angry meteors above the habitations of our enemies, who, per-haps, have not yet been made acquainted with this wonderful invention. Like a cer-tain mischievous bird which Ovid celebrates we would dart down upon the graceful innocents and carry them off in spite of the screams of their relations. Think how triumphantly we should sait through the calm, blue ether, ten thousand feet above this dirty planet!

The carpenter is a dressmaker who works in lumber. His job is to cut out and baste together the materials for a house and to fit it to the family which is to wear it.

Carpenters are born, not educated. It equires a specially designed eye to steer a saw across a twelve-inch board without allowing it to wander on the way like a lodge member returning from initiation. A carpenter can take a wagon load of lumber and work it up into a Gothic barn without wasting anything but the sawdust, whereas if an amateur were to try to build a dog house from the same wagon load he would have to steal a plane box and part of his wife's flour bin in order to piece out.

The badge of the carpenter's profession is a rag around the left hand thumb. He is a quiet man who does not talk much but who loves to get up shortly after sunrise and produce a riot with his hammer and saw. Two carpenters building a barn can produce a chorus which can be heard all over a ward but nobody minds it. The song of the carpenter's saw is the anthem of prosperity and when the carpenter loafs and his small son uses his chisels to dig fish worms the census returns of that city are not worth gathering. The carpenter lives a wild, free life on the ridge poles and eaves like a cat and nothing better than to fill his face full of shingle nails and put a new lid on the house of a prominent citizen. Nothing fills the common cit zen with more awe than to see a carpenter drive a large low-browed nail into the side of a house without using guides or sights. A carpenter can drive a nail six inches into a beam with five blows but an amateur can do better than forty-two

He would have to steal a piano piece out."

Carpenters make from $4 to .o a day and go home at 5 o'clock leaving a lath hanging in the air without visible means of support. Unlike school teachers, they take their cation in the winter. After a carpenter has waited for three months for weather which will allow him to get out on a scaffolding and work without freezing his ears, he sometimes wishes he was a banker or some other beast of burden.

A bright boy with a true eye can become a carpenter in four or five years. Other people can learn the trade in from 100 to 400 years, providing a good natured public g'ves them enough houses and timber to practice upon.

Motion Pictures For the Blind. Startling as it may seem, Professor Dus-sard, of Paris, a scientist of considerable note, has produced a motion picture appar-atus for the blind, by means of which they may experience the illusion of moving ob-jects as people with full powers of vision do in viewing an illuminated screen. The apparatus consists of a machine operated by electricity, which causes a series of reliefs, representing trees, birds or other objects, to pass rapidly under the fingers. The reliefs are so graduated that the deli-cate sense of touch of the blind translates variations into apparent movements of the objects which are represented. The device is mainly employed for educational

How to Keep the Indian.

(From The Cleveland Plain Dealer.) One great service the government can give he Indian is so to regulate surroundings that tricky traders and camp followers may not be permitted to swindle them. The white swindler has been a great menace to the Indian. Take him away, put educated men in charge, who will teach modern agriculture to the men and domestic science to the women, require all Indians owning land to settle on it or lose their governmen This would be helping the Indians and preparing them for freedom.

FRIENDS TELL FRANK

Mrs. Frank threw her arms about the neck of her husband and sobbed bitterly. Frank smiled down at her. He stroked her head and pleaded with her to be brave. He spoke hurriedly to Dr. Rosenberg and Rabbi Marx and Mrs. Frank was persuaded to leave jail. She was weeping as she through the main corridor which was thronged with newspaper reporters. Dr. Rosenberg on one side, and Rabbi Marx on the other, Mrs. Frank was hurried to an auto and driven away. When Atlanta Women Buy CRACKERS

(I If every housewife in Atlanta would look into the Supply-Rooms at the BLOCK Bakeries, she would have fresh faith in BLOCK Crackers and Biscuits.

Mat Would she see?

¶ Just this: The finest of materials and the first grade of ingredients all ready for making into BLOCK Crackers.

(Then, if she would look a bit further, she would see how these fresh and perfect materials are handled---the skill, the care, the perfection of detail that enter into the whole process.

I She would find absolute cleanliness and rigidly sanitary methods. She would see that BLOCK products are evolved with fastidious care at every step-from mixing to packing.

Constantinople. August 25 .- The United States embassy here has dis-patched Lewis Heck, acting vice consul, to open an inquiry into circum-stances attending the murder last week of Dr. Charles H. Holbrook, an American missionary, at the Soushehir, Asiatic Turkey.

According to the off reports Dr. Holbrook, who was a native of Lynn, Mass., was sleeping in the garden surrounding the house of an Armenian who had been paying attentions to some Turkish women. Two Turks de-termined to punish the Armenian, forced their way into the garden, and shot the sleeping Dr. Holbrook in mistake for the owner of the house. This version of the affair is discredited by private advices to the Bible house, which indicate that the murder was a deliberate one. The murderers have been arrested Southern University of Music and are awaiting trial.

Tammany Leaders Is to Be Asked.

New York, August 25 .- The indictment of Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall; Aaron J. Levy, leader of the democratic majority in the assembly, and Senator James J. Frawley, chairman of the committee which in-vestigated Governor Sulzer's campaign contributions, has been requested of the district attorneys of New York and Albany counties by Lynn J. Arnold, of Albany, an ardent Sulzer supporter.

The indictment of the three leaders is asked on statements of many persons presented by Judge Arnold to the district attorneys, regarding an al-leged conspiracy to put Sulzer out of the governor's chair. In so announcing, Judge Arnold repeated his declaration that money had been freely used to accomplish this result.

In August Furniture Sale

Only 41/2 days are left of the great August Furniture Sale. We are determined to ma' this week the most remarkable of the month.

The Furniture listed below is slightly shop-worn. In no case is it badly marred or soiled, but we know that it would only grow dingy here, when it might be making some home more cozy.

Today and Tuesday several pieces of this Furniture will be displayed in the window. The rest will be conveniently assembled in front of the elevators on the fourth floor.

No exchanges will be allowed because of the decided reductions-not less than 40 per cent in any instance. If more than the usual 30 days' credit is desired, terms may be made through our office. Green Striped Denim Library Chair ... Tapestry Upholstered Wing Library Rocker 27.00 Green Striped Denim Library Chair .. urday in the game with the Billikens, when he accepted fourteen assists and one put out, is a Southern league record as far as we can ascertain after running over the records. The most number of assists previously recorded by a shortstop is ten, made by Bill Lindsay, former shortstop of the New Orleans Felicans, now on the Pacific coast. The nearest approach to the most number of chances, 15, was made this season by Milton Stock, the Mobile, shortstop, who on July had 6 put outs and 7 assists. Bisland and Stock are tied for the second largest number of assists this season with eight each.

Fighting Gamely.

THE GULLS will deserve a world of credit if they cop the bunting in the face of their present set back. They have only three twirlers that they can work. Cavet is out for the season with a bad eye and Robertson has such a sore arm that he may not be able to pitch any more this year. Can Hogg, Berger and Campbell carry the burden? That's a question. If they can, you've got to hand it to them and the Gulls. If they can not, it will be just one of those breaks that happen to all ball clubs.

IF THE SERIES with the Gulls that starts a week from today develops in the meantime as the series that will decide which team floats the pennant, we hope that the Gulls will have their full fishting strength in the field, If we beat them, let's do it when they're intact. This will eliminate any "albi" stuff after the series is over. And it would be a greater accomplishment for the Crackers.

Times Have Changed.

THE CUBS, the famous machine of THE CUBS, the famous machine of Strank Chance, used to walk rough-se shod over the Giants. How times have changed. This season the Giants have been smearing it on the Cubs practically every time they have met and have won enough games to give them the edge for the season regardless of the outcome of the games the rest of the season. It is the first time the Giants have won a season series from the Cubs since 1905.

They're Right.

THE CARDINALS are sore because Manager Huggins is riding them and plastering fines. This according to an exchange. Another after reading the report says "Some of the Cardinal report says" report says "Some of the Cardinal players do not need conversation or fines—they need dynamite."

FIGHTING IN CALIFORNIA

Los Angeles, Cal., August 25.—State Senator Wiliam F. Brown, author of the anti-prize fight bill defcated by the last legislature, announced today that initiative petitions would be circulated for the enactment of a law prohibiting prize fighting in California, those opposed to the sport having been aroused to action by the death last Saturday of John Young from injuries received in his bout with Jess Willard.

Vernon fight promoters stated that all scheduled bouts had been called off and indicated their intention to await the outcome of the initiative campaign.

Your contention of the throw to Dunn. Umpire Rudderham had called the runner out, then waved him safe when Dunn dropped the ball. Look at it sanely. Bisland should not be charged with Dunn's error, which you are trying to do by not giving him this assist. He made the play and his throw got the man as evidenced by the umpire's decision. Therefore, he should have an assist. Had Dunn held the ball, he would have gotten an held the ball, he would have gotten and assist, wouldn't he? So, why shouldn't assist, wouldn't he? So, why shouldn't he when Dunn makes an error on Bishand's perfect play?

TENNIS CHAMPION MEETS WILLIAMS

Those who fell before their racquets were Nathaniel W. Niles, of Boston, who lost to Williams in a four-set match, 6-4, 7-5, 3-6, 6-1, and Wallace F. Johnson, of Philadelphia, who suc-cumbed to McLoughlin in straight sets, 6-0, 7-5, 6-1.

Williams will seek tomorrow to wrest the title from McLoughlin, but not one person in four in the casino tonight thought sufficiently well of his chances to back him.

Matches Disappointing.

Matches Disappointing.

To a large and eager gallery, both matches in the semi-tinals today were disappointing and uninteresting considering the caliber of the players. Williams sized up the best that Niles had before three games had been played in the first set and after the Philadelphian had secured a two-set-to-nothing lead, he used the remainder of the match apparently as a practice affair. In the third set which he practically presented to Niles, Williams remained in the back court and made no effort to stop wide driven balls. He earned 38 per cent of his points to 33 per cent for Niles.

The McLoughlin-Johnson match lasted but a trifle over forty minutes. It started like a five set, with deuce being called twice in the first game. But once getting his stride, McLoughlin pushed through point after point and in the remaining five games Johnson carried off but six strokes, five of them on McLoughlin's errors.

on McLoughlin's errors. There was no semblance of a repeti-tion of last year's contest when Johntion of last year's contest when Jennson ran up a two-and-a-half-set lead by driving for McLoughlin's backhand. The Californian gave his opponent no chance for long drives or chop strokes, but rushing to the net, he killed effectively or passed repeatedly.

ORGANIZED BALL TO FIGHT FEDERAL LEAGUE NEXT YEAR

Chicago, August 25.—A new league which shall have the sanction of organized baseball and which shall be the weapon with which organized ball shall attack the Federal league, is planned by John Powers, deposed president of the Federal organization.

left here last night for a trip through ten cities. Powers claims the support of certain elements in the National and American leagues, and in spite of the collapse of his plans this year he ex-pects to be the head of a third major pects to be the head of a third major league.

He has been in St. Louis where he claims supoprt; has canvassed Chicago and now goes to Indinapolis, Cleveland, Pittsburg, Baltimore, New York, Montreaf, Toronto and Buffalo, to confer with those in therested in a third league substruct fer with those in therested in a third league scheme.

It is reported that the Federal league has cut into the receipts of American association teams at Kansas City and Indianapolis and that Powers may receive aid from some association clubs. It is stated that more than one of the club owners in the Federal would welcome a chance to change but Powers would not say how many votes he could control in the league he organized last winter.

Rowers, who is still nominally president of the Federal league, was given a vacation by the directors early in the season. The leave of absence is to last until fall, when it is the plan to name his successor. He broke with the club owners when he wanted to transfer a game between Pittsburg and Chicago, scheduled for Chicago, to Sheffield, Ill., his home.

He secured a large guarantee and after all arrangements had been made the Chicago club refused to transfer the game. A league meeting followed at which Powers was released from his duties.

Two Players for Detroit.

Providence, R. I., August 25 .- Manger Donovan, of the Providence Inager Donovan, or the Providence in-ternational League Baseball club, to-day announced the sale of Al Platte, rightfielder, and Eddie Onslow, first baseman of the Providence team, to the Detroit club. Both will report to the Tigers tomorrow.

ARITHMETIC PROBLEM IN THE BISHOP'S WILL

New York, August 25.—Bishop William Turnell Sabine, the noted Reformed Episcopal churchman, who died here August 11, left a mathematical problem in his will. He is survived by nine children. A clause of the document filed today provides that the estate "of more than $20,000 in value" he partitioned so that each of value" be partitioned so that each of the five daughters shall get one and one-half times the amount given each

The petitioning lawyer solved the problem by dividing the property into twenty-three parts of which each daughter is to receive three twentythirds of the whole, and each of the four sons two-twenty-thirds.

Profits From Garbage.

Profits from treating the garbage of the municipal reduction works in eleveland last year amounted to $1.24 er ton, according to figures published in The Engineering Record. Durate to the control of th ing the year the plant handled an average quantity of 60 tons of refuse daily and returned a substantial profit to the city treasury. The refuse, after delivery at the plant, is first drained of water and then is placed in huge cooking vats, called "digestors," into which live steam is introduced. The "cooked" garbage is then passed through powerful presses which squeeze out the valuable by-product. through powerful presses which squeeze out the valuable by-product, grease. The grease is collected and pumped into tanks and sold. From the sale of grease alone during 1912 the city received $42,559, while the recovery of various other saleable products brought the total receipts up to $61,-728. It cost $38,503 to run the plant for the year. The net yearly profit, therefore, was $23,225.

WORLD'S CONGRESS ON SCHOOL HYGIENE

Scientists and Educators Are Holding Conference at human uplift," Secretary William B. Wilson, of the department of labor, told the delegates on behalf of President Wilson and congress, "are frequently looked upon as dreamers, but the dreamers of today are the practical men of tomorrow. You have your dreams and out of those dreams will come a more perfect manhood and womanhood for future generations. School hygiene is one of the great problems of mankind."

School Buildings and Equipment.

School Buildings and their equipment was the general topic of the sectional was the general topic of the sectional meetings and addresses were made by the representatives of four nations. Dr. John A. Ferrill, of the Rockefeller sanitary commission of Washington, in a paper on the spread of intestinal diseases through the rural school, de-clared that the work done in the south in connection with the hookworm disase indicated that its prevalence had made it a real world problem.

In three and one-half years the Rockefeller commission and health boards in eleven southern states had made £61,581 microscopic examinations for parasitic ova, he said. Of this number of persons 229,578 were found to of persons, 329,578 were found to have hookworm. Private physicians treated 162,305 additional persons. As an indirect cause of death, Dr. Ferrell said, the hookworm probably has no equal. In many localities 80 to 100 per cent of the children in schools have been found to have the disease. The infected children make 50 per cent or less progress than is made by a normal, healthy child.

Address by Ellot and Grant. At a general public meeting tonight addresses were made by Dr. Charles W. Eliot, president emeritus of Harvard university, and Sir James Grant, president of the National Canadian Organ lzing committee. School life in the country, Sir James declared, offers a perfect safety valve for the rising gen erations, and so far as possible, the in-fluence of the congress should be exer-elsed to counteract the rush from country to city. "A vast wave of sanitary science is passing around the world," he said. "The interests of the world are linked together almost as one, so hygiene, in a comprehensive sense, carried out successfully, will tend to sharpen and strengthen right thinking and greatly reduce international ill feeling."

Dr. Eliot, who is president of the congress, said the progressive civilization of the last hundred years has worked terribly against the health and perpetuity of the whole race. This, he said, is seen in the reduced vitality of the multitudes that inhabit closely built cities, in the diminishing size of families, in the incapacity of many women of bearing and nursing children, and in the disproportionate in-crease in the number of the insune, the defective and the criminally inclined To Segregate Defectives.

"Such cities as Paris, London, Berlin, New York and Chicago bear witness to the fact that modern civilization is all the time preparing and promoting its own destruction," he said. "It is a plain duty of the state to provide segregation of the defective, the insane and the habitual criminal, in order to prevent the breeding of human beings from such stock. It is not yet clear how good breeding can be promoted among free men and women; but it is clear how be breeding can and should be prevented. "The outcome of this international congress should be the enlightenment of society concerning the means of defending civilization against its own tendencies of decay and dissolution and the strengthening of the social resolution to put into execution all the medical arts and sciences recommend. measures which Christian ethics and the medical arts and sciences recommend. Among defensive measures against the evils which crowded cities and the factory system have brought on mankind the subject of this comparatively new sort of congress—school hygiene—is of first importance."

Mrs. M. R. Barfield.

Mrs. M. R. Barfield, aged 33, of Camden, S. C., died Monday at a local hospital. The body was taken to Greenberg & Bon's chapel, awaiting the arrival of relatives.

The Constitution communicating with its correspondents in the leading cotton towns south of Americus and Augusta asked for a comparative statement of the number of bales of this is published in the following tabulated statement from which it will be observed that the movement is going to compare favorably this year with that of two years ago, though this year the crop is at least two weeks behind that of the big year of 1911.

The general opinion expressed by The Constitution's correspondents is that this year's crop is going to run a close comparison with that of the big crop of 1911, and that conditions generally throughout the state are infinitely better than that year growing out of the fact that this year's crop was made on a very much less expensive basis than that of two years ago.

The report of the south Georgia towns so far heard from shows the number of bales received through last Saturday, August 23, to be as follows:

COTTON GAINED 23 TO 28 POINTS

Fear of Unfavorable New Crop Outturn and Bullish Estimates Caused Advance. Market Closed Near Best.

New York, August 25 .- The cotton market was active and excited today, with prices making new high ground for the movement, on general buying, which reflected increasing apprehen-sion of an unfavorable new crop outturn. There was heavy realizing on the advance and some of the old bull interests were credited with taking profits on fully 150,000 bales, but fresh ouying for long account and further overing prevented anything more than slight reactions, and the market closed very steady at a net gain of from 23 to 28 points.

Early weather advices indicating that ter Than Those of 1911, as the scattered showers reported on the challength of Friday had been followed by a renewal of dry weather in the southwest, and bullish private crop accounts, seemed to have attracted considerable attention abroad and the cables showed The cotton crop is moving very actlvely in south Georgia.

a sharp advance. The local market opened firm at an advance of 11 to 17 points in consequence and quickly sold

Heavy receipts are recorded throughout that part of the cotton belt south of Americus. The movement has not reached the zone north of Americus to any noticeable extent as yet, the season being at least a week or two later between Americus and Macon than south of Americus, and from two to three weeks later north of Macon.

Been Weak, But Spirited Buying Sent the Prices Up. Wheat Also Higher.

Chicago, August 25.—Influential buying in the final hour turned a weak corn market into a strong one today prices at the close showing a net al-vance of 1-4 to 3-8@1-2. Wheat finvance of 1-4 to 3-8@1-2. Wheat in-ished a shade to 1-4 higher, oats un-changed to 1-8 up and provisions ir-regular, 7 1-2 lower to 5c higher. The uplift in corn came on reports of scarcity in varied sections. Buffa-lo said scarcely a car of spot corn was for sale there: Kapsas points were for sale there; Kansas points were said to be out of corn and using wheat for feed; Tennessee farmers reported that for the first time in the state's history except after floods, the bottom lands have falled to make a corn crop; from Nebraska came reports of an expert that in the last ports of an expert that in the last three weeks the crop there had gone back 24 per cent, and that no relief was in sight. Early weakness due to reports of good weather in most of the corn belt gave way to strength when some of the leading houses who had sellers turned houses. had sellers, turned buyers. The mar-ket closed at or near the high point of the day.

Wheat followed corn, hardening during the last part of the session. There was some buying for export, easterners taking about 50,000 bushels and other sales are said to be in prospect. This, and the late strength of corn, offset the feeling that had been manifest earlier on reports of fine weather all over the domestic belt. Short covering helped harden prices toward the close. Export clearances of wheat and flour at seaboard forthcoming report of the Producers' ances of wheat and flour at seaboard equalled 952,000 bushels. Primary receipts of wheat today were 1,541,000 against 1,742,000 bushels a year ago. There was a good deal of selling pressure in oats until toward the close. when some improvement in deman

Provisions were quiet and easy, the best show of strength being on some good buying of pork near the close.

STOCKS WAITING ON THE MESSAGE

Market for Most of Day Had Traders Unwilling to Make Commitments Until President's Message on Mexican Troubles Is Made Public.

> New York, August 25 .- There was no expectation today that movements in stocks would reveal any definite conclusions on the part of the professional traders who have taken al-riost exclusive charge of the market recently. Relations between country and Mexico are recognized or every hand as the most factor in the present situation and there was a strong disinclination to make new commitments pending the expected publication tomorrow of President Wilson's message on the subject. Trading was on a limited scale, final quotations disclosing few changes of as much as a point on the day among the more active stocks. In spite of the hesitancy, the under-tone was fairly strong and in the early trading there was a rather gen-eral advance. The dar's news, while not sufficiently important to exert a marked influence on values, was of the kind which makes for optimism. London was cheerful after the hollday and American stocks were generally higher there. Further encouraging advices were received concerning the steel trade. Several large New England cotton mills resumed operations after a long period of idleness. Copper stocks were helped by the advance of the copper metal in Lon-don and by expectations that the association will reveal a favorable po-

Among the special movements, Can stocks were conspicuous, both com-mon and preferred rising smartly. St. Faul, the coalers and the metal stocks were strongest of the standard shares. The Harriman issues lagged behind. Profit taking scales caused a general recession after numerous gains point or more had been recorded. New Haven again developed conspicuous weakness, falling more than 2 points to a new low record at 96%.

Bonds were steady. Total sales, parvalue, $1,200,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.
