MRS. CRAWFORD WILL TAKE STAND TODAY

Prior to Her Testimony a Number of Medical Experts Will Be Heard.

Should the several medical experts, yet to be called to the stand in the Crawford trial, be likely to bring forth their testimony soon after court opens today it is more than likely that Mrs. Mary Belle Crawford, principal in the already sensational litigation, which involves an estate valued at a quarter of a million dollars, will take the witness stand before Judge Anderson and deny, item by item, the charges against her.

Medical Experts on Stand. The following medical experts will take the stand today to corroborate the statement of Dr. J. W. Hurt, made the night prior to the hearing, when the coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental death.

On Friday Dr. E. Thrash, professor of diseases for the Atlanta medical college, qualified as an expert witness and declared that after three years, the poison alleged to have been in Crawford's body would all be in the stomach or there would be none present at all.

Dr. Haverly has alleged that the amount of poison he is sufficient to cause death and it had all been found in the stomach of the aged man.

A sensation of Friday in the hearing was the legal fight between Colonel William James, for the contesting heirs, and Colonel Reuben Arnold, chief counsel for Mrs. Crawford, over the admission of an anonymous letter written by Crawford to her husband.

The letter was finally admitted and read as follows: "February 20, 1909 at Augustine, Fla. Mr. Crawford dear friend. This is to inform you of a plot laid for your life."

THE READEROMETER is carried on the first page of The Constitution every day.

The Readerometer shows how fast the paper is Going and Growing.

A circulation statement is no more the GROWTH of a paper than a speedometer is the SPEED of a motor car; but as the speedometer marks the miles and hours as they roll out under the chassis, so the READEROMETER every day checks the readers as they add their names to The Constitution's subscription rolls.

Readers who are coming to The Constitution are taking the paper because:

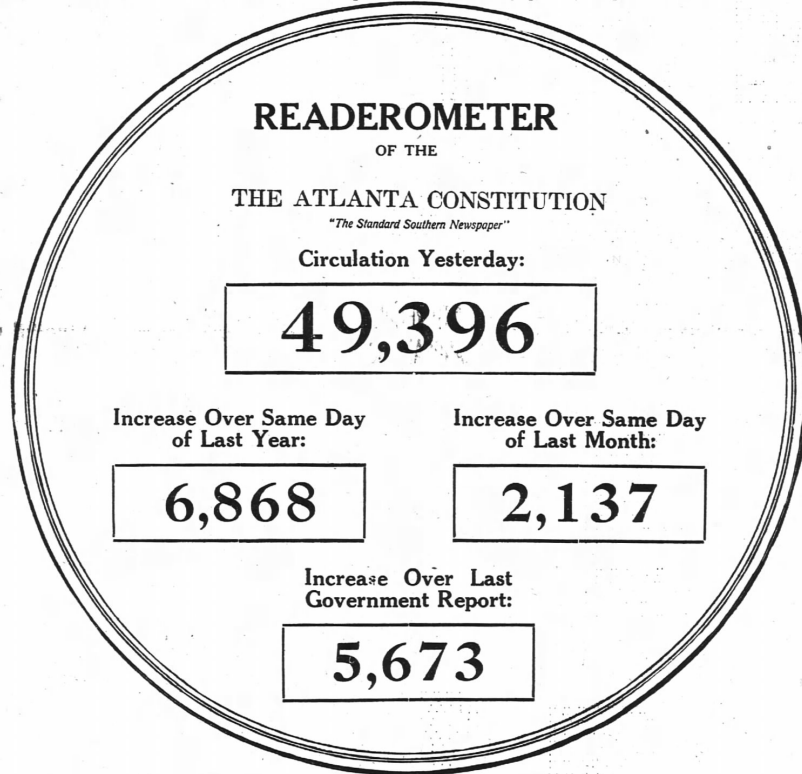

- They get it seven days a week without fail---Delivery service is almost perfect;
- They want this particular paper in the home---It has no competition as Atlanta's only morning newspaper.

SELLING CAUSED COTTON TO LOSE

Pessimistic Views of Trade Also Contributed to Decline—Close Was Barely Steady—Spot Quiet.

New York, December 5.—Bullish private crop figures evidently failed to inspire any fresh buying of consequence in the cotton market during today's early trading and prices advanced only under restricting liquidation. The market was generally steady, but the larger spot interests. The close was barely steady and from 10 to 15 points below.

WHEAT, CORN, OATS ALL MADE GAINS

Unfavorable Weather in Argentina Main Factor in Advance of Wheat—Weather Prospect Boosted Corn.

Chicago, December 5.—Unfavorable harvest weather in parts of Argentina and reduced estimates of the Argentine exportable surplus carried wheat prices today up grade. Latest prices were nervous but 1/2 to 3/4 % above last night. Corn closed unchanged to 1/4 higher on an advance of 1/4 to 3/8 % and speculators gave most attention to the doubtful outlook for the Argentine harvest, as the crop in the South American country was said to be 10 to 15 % below a normal yield. Further decrease of the estimated export surplus might be expected here the harvest was not complete. Through the day so far were regarded as notably liquidating, speculators buying chiefly to profit taking by holders and did not indicate any considerable reason for the strength shown was enlargement of export demand. Besides, there were official estimates that the Argentine crop was 10 to 15 % below a normal yield. As a result of this, wheat prices advanced 1/4 to 3/8 % and speculators gave most attention to the doubtful outlook for the Argentine harvest, as the crop in the South American country was said to be 10 to 15 % below a normal yield.

NEW YORK REPUBLICANS FAVOR DIRECT PRIMARY

Radicals Defeat Motion to Reaffirm Party in the Last Party Platform.

New York, December 5.—The radicals ruled the republican state conference this afternoon and forced the approval of a direct, state-wide primary law.

The radicals, led by Henry L. Stimson, former secretary of war, met with Mr. Barnes and his followers at the state convention.

The state chairman's proposition was that the conference favor the direct nomination of congressmen, state legislators, county and municipal officers.

Stimson, however, favored a check on the power of the legislature, and a referendum on the question of whether to leave the question in the hands of the people.

Mr. Barnes agreed that the meeting should be held on the 15th of January. He called attention to the example of Massachusetts, where the direct election of governor had been adopted.
