CONVICTS HELP ROADS, ROADS HELP CONVICTS

Dr. Pratt Stresses Advantages Gained in Working Unfortunates on Highways.

Philadelphia, December 10.—The practicability of using convicts in the construction of public roads was discussed at today's session of the American Road Builders' association, and several speakers agreed that inmates of prisons should be so employed, both from a material standpoint and as a saving for the state.

Joseph J. Pratt, state geologist of North Carolina, introduced the subject of convict labor in a paper in which he advocated that prisoners in penitentiaries be divided into three classes and that they be given an opportunity, by good conduct, to reach the first class. He favored the employment of prisoners in the construction of public roads. "Let the convicts build the roads," he said, "and the roads will rebuild the convicts."

West Leeds East. He said they would not only do their own keep, but earn a little for the use of their families or themselves.

Dr. J. Wilson, state highway commissioner of Virginia, informed the remarks of Dr. Pratt. Both speakers agreed that the west is far ahead of the east in the humane and useful employment of the convict labor. James W. Smith, president of the Road Builders' association, also commended Dr. Pratt's address.

Romantic Force of Business Wins Success for This Play

To the average theatergoer, Wilton Lackaye is known only as a fine actor. To the newspaper man he is known as "Good Copy" because he knows what to say and how to say it. Even among newspaper writers there is a difference. By those who know only the surface of him Lackaye is called a wit—and as though that were a term of reproach. For those who cannot understand his inclinations to speak the truth as he feels it even when his outpokenness is personally to his own disadvantage, Mr. Lackaye is known as a cynic. The sense of irony is not in his nature, but is introduced for it by a brother actor. "George there is little difference between you and me. To your friends you say, 'God bless you,' while to mine I say, 'God you, and neither you or me on the level.'"

Wilton Lackaye is a curious compound. In two phalanges, 5,000 strong men and women marched from the section of the city to the east front of the capitol building to demand the mandating national prohibition by constitutional amendment. The speaker in each phalanx was a representative author of such a proposed amendment.

Georgia Prohibs Showed in Front

Washington, December 10.—(Special)—Georgia was well represented among the leaders in each phalanx in the demonstration for national-wide prohibition. Mrs. Mary Harris ARMOR, the "Olden Cyclopedia," told the crowds that assembled on the east front of the capitol that the dry states were tired of liquor being shipped into them under protection of interstate commerce. "I want to tell you just one thing," she declared, "if you people of the north don't stop making whisky and shipping it down into our part of the country, we're going to secede again and live our own lives."

William B. Upshaw of Atlanta, a vice president of the Anti-Saloon League of America, and editor of The Golden Age, at the close of today's meeting, advanced to the front of the platform, advanced to the front of the platform, advanced to the front of the platform, advanced to the front of the platform.

A few days more vigorous work should witness the completion of the task.

Remember that when you contribute to the Oglethorpe movement you write your name on the honor roll of the men and women who are striving for higher educational ideals in the southern states.

THE FEEDERS OF ATLANTA. At various times and in various causes, the people of Atlanta have manifested considerable sympathy for the so-called "eight-hour" day for labor.

The grocers and butchers of Atlanta are agitating not for an eight or a ten but a twenty-four hour day.

It makes the cost of living higher for the consumer. It cuts the wages of the men who serve him, very frequently depriving them of a normal Sunday.

The grocers and butchers complain, with some reason, that existing conditions are due to the method of buying in Atlanta.

AN OPERA BOUFFE CONGRESS. There is something of sardonic humor in the "deliberations" of the newly "elected" Congress.

It seems Huerta's force men will not do it. While he bulwarks congress on one hand he prepares for flight with the other.

THE PULLET TO THE BAR. The Great American Consumer is justly in arms against the pullet.

Later news is more encouraging. It is said that the pullets have become less recalcitrant, that they show signs of getting "on the job," and that from henceforward we are likely to appreciate a gratifying slump in the price of fresh eggs.

Let us hope so. The egg is one article of diet a poor American, unless he be extremely rich, can do without.

We rather believe, however, that if this perennial issue of a shortage of eggs and high prices is to be solved, the matter must be approached from another angle.

If the suffragettes make that promised raid congress may have to adjourn in self-defense.

In a sketch of Francis Joseph, The London Evening Standard says:

Francis Joseph's Fate.

"Because he ordered the execution of one of the Karolyi, his victim's mother, cured him in something words, which seem to sum up all possible excuses for a human fate."

HUMAN BEINGS SLICED BY VIVISECTIONISTS

So Speakers at Washington Congress Allege—Children Furnished for Experiments.

Washington, December 10.—The world is going to demand an accounting from victors that against the cost of agony and death there have been made known whatever gains in the way of discovery have been made.

Human Vivisection a Fact. Human vivisection is a charge which is being made by a number of prominent physicians.

Antismia Lascivily Tortured. Vivisection of animals as a method of research was denounced at a meeting of the Royal College of Surgeons.

TERMINAL DISTRICT AUCTION

Dec. 12, 10:00 A.M.

"Business efficiency determines success or failure in these days of sharp competition. A concern located on Nelson street, right in the heart of Atlanta Terminal District, within one block of a passenger station, with all of Atlanta easily accessible by down-hill hauls, and all the South reached by eight radiating railroad lines, this concern would be hard to down."—Forrest Adair.

"Save minutes! Minutes are dollars and the man that can save minutes in the transaction of his business is the man that is making the dollars."—Edwin P. Ansley.

"I have applications for at least 200,000 square feet of space in the Terminal District, and can immediately supply tenants for all or any size building on these lots."—E. D. Duncan.

400 Package cars leave Atlanta daily. This is better than express service.

Less breakage---less loss. Load a ton or a sack of nuts---leave Atlanta tonight, be at destination tomorrow.

This is 124,800 cars each year; 13 trains a day of 30 cars each.

All this for just package cars and does not include one pound of incoming or carload lots.

Atlanta is great, getting greater, and can grow double in the next twenty years---that is time enough for you to win and win big.
