Attorney Arnold, for Frank, Says Juror Planned to Get on Panel to Hang Accused.

A recess in the hearing on a new trial for Leo H. Henslowe, taken at 3:45 o'clock Saturday afternoon as Attorney Reuben Arnold was in the midst of a scathing denunciation of H. Henslowe, who the lawyer declared, had lain in wait in cold blood to get on the jury that he might use his influence in convicting the defendant.

"He got there for no other purpose," asserted the lawyer. "The affidavits show that Henslowe deliberately went into the jury box with his mind poisoned against Frank and that the virus of his prejudice very easily might have spread to other members of the jury."

Attorney Arnold held great stress upon the fact that a great outbreak of cheering and shouting had taken place about the courtroom before the polling of the verdict had been completed. He declared that Judge Roan under the law must give the defendant a new trial on this ground, if there were no others to be considered. He held and read legal citations to support his contention that a verdict completely nullified every man has been polled and that the verdict was "rotten" by the savages who stood outside on the street and shouted and cried for blood and leaped with joy because a man was to be condemned to death.

Arnold's reasons and narration of the facts of the case repeatedly were illumined by blazes of wrathful denunciation of the manner in which the trial against Frank had been conducted by Solicitor General Crowder and of the "scowling, vicious crowd" which he represented as crying the damning words for the life of the defendant.

"All the Solicitor had to do," he shouted, "was to pour blood down their throats and they were satisfied." He charged Roan with playing to the grandstand; with corrupting and warping the evidence so as to draw the most ridiculous and fantastic conclusions with which to gull the jurors, and with being a party to the gigantic conspiracy to send an innocent man to the gibbet.

"The jury," he observed, "was perfectly willing to swallow anything--the more improbable and grotesque, the better. No evidence was worth a haire before that scowling, vicious mob. They were pack of wolves thirsting for blood."

Execution Set for December 12

New Trial Motion to Be Heard Dec. 6.

GRAYS, GA., Oct. 25.—Nick Wilburn was found guilty without recommendation and sentenced this afternoon to hang December 12. Motion for a new trial was filed and will be heard December 12.

"Wilburn will not hang on December 12 this year or before December 12 next year," declared his attorney, John R. Cooper this afternoon after his client had been sentenced. "If Nick hangs, then Mrs. King, too, shall die on the gallows."

Fighting for Client. Mr. Cooper frankly avers that he expects a verdict of guilty with recommendation to mercy in Mrs. King's case, and pressing on the outcome he is preparing to make a fight to save Wilburn from the hangman's noose. Mrs. Cooper said that she would appeal to the Supreme Court, if a new trial is denied, and if she loses that there is a man in Georgia who should not suffer the death penalty.

Mrs. King Weeps. "I just can't think of what's wrong," she told Sheriff Roberts, and then broke down and wept. She denied herself to callers.

Attorney W. F. Fisher, who attended the Wilburn trial, and who will represent Mrs. King when she is put on trial Monday, declared that the evidence adduced in the Wilburn case substantially helps his case.

"I propose now simply to put Mrs. King on the stand and let her tell the truth as she sees it and the whole truth about this case, just as I have told it to me," he says. "I don't believe that there is a man in Georgia who would convict her if he believes what she says, and I think your statement can be materially supported by the testimony of other witnesses."

CHANGES IN CONLEY PROTECTED BY LIVING, Declares Husband Whipped and Shot Her

BRUTAL ACTS CHARGED TO FARMER

L. A. Kennedy Taken From Wife's Beside to Jail at Swainsboro, Ga.

SWAINSBORO, Oct. 27.—Mrs. L. A. Kennedy, shot by her husband, a prominent Emanuel County farmer, was reported dying to-day. Kennedy is in jail here awaiting the outcome of his wife's wounds. A large crowd has gathered at the Kennedy home awaiting news of Mrs. Kennedy's condition. She has made a dying statement accusing her husband.

Kennedy, before shooting his wife, brutally beat her with a horse whip and the butt of a shotgun. She pleaded with him to spare her for her children, and when he refused, made a desperate fight. After struggling fully fifteen minutes, Kennedy beat her down with the gun and she fell dead a load of buckshot into her back, which then struck her body. He then carried her into the house.

Arrested at Beside.

Mr. Will has Kennedy in the particulars of the shooting case out. Kennedy was then arrested. He was at his wife's bedside and pleaded with the officers to let him stay with her until the end. His request was refused.

It is said that Kennedy was in a drunken stupor when he shot Mrs. Kennedy. The quarrel followed the running down of one of the Kennedy children by the father, who came home late Saturday from town, driving a horse to a small buggy. After running over the boy, the father left him lying in the road.

Hearing the child's screams, Mrs. Kennedy rushed to the scene. Kennedy almost her. She reeled and he climbed from the rig, with whip in hand, in a threatening attitude. He struck at her and she ran into a nearby cotton field, he following.

Beats Her as She Flees.

Across the field Kennedy followed his wife, striking vicious blows all the while with the buggy whip. Mrs. Kennedy's body was covered with cuts and whelps, and people who saw the whip say it was worn thin.

The woman managed to get away from Kennedy and went back to the road where her boy lay injured, a short distance from the house. The other three Kennedy children were near their injured brother.

Picking up the injured boy, Mrs. Kennedy proceeded with the other children to the house. Kennedy was standing at the front door, a shotgun in his hands and a vicious grin on his face. He started toward her and at the front gate, 50 feet from the door, they met.

"Put down that whip," ordered Kennedy.

Kennedy Shoots Wife.

The wife refused. As he neared her she dropped the boy and, throwing her arms around Kennedy's neck, pleaded with him not to kill her. He hit her with the gun, throwing her from him. Mrs. Kennedy's head made another bound at him, again striking him about the neck. They struggled about the yard and near the porch. Upon the veranda they went, she fighting desperately.

On the corner of the porch he succeeded in knocking her down and as she fell drew the load of buckshot into her back. Mrs. Kennedy's head struck a pillar on the corner of the porch.

Kennedy then picked her up and carried her into the house. The children who witnessed the attack ran to neighbors and telephoned the news to Swainsboro. Officers were sent to Kennedy farm, the arrest resulting.

FEAR ROTTS OVER FASCO ELECTION

Huerta to Remain in Power in Mexico, Voting Having Failed to Name Successor.

Special Cable to The Atlanta Georgian. MEXICO CITY, Oct. 27.—The city took on the appearance of an armed camp to-day as returns from scattered elections districts made it certain that no candidate had received a majority of the votes cast in the Presidential contest. Although no orders attended the balloting, here Sunday and there was no disturbance during the night, troops were brought into the city at dawn to prevent riots upon proclamation of official announcement from the Government that the balloting had resulted in "no election."

More than 2,000 troops were moved into the city during the early morning. The outstanding feature of the election is the fact that it has only strengthened Huerta in his position as dictator.

That Huerta had no doubt that the election would fall was borne out by the decree increasing the strength of the Mexican army from 30,000 to 150,000. This sudden increase of the army to almost double its present size, when the Government is short of funds and loans seem unattainable, gives the general impression that Huerta is either preparing for a foreign war or expects new uprisings, possibly as a result of the election fiasco. The decree says that the army is to be increased immediately, as if there were urgent necessity for such action.

Few Ballots Cast.

Predictions that the election would be a farce were fully borne out by the scenes at the polls on Sunday. In some precincts not a vote was cast, and latest figures indicate that not over four thousand were cast for all the candidates in the Federal District, although there are 80,000 registered voters in that section of the Republic alone.

Rebels Renew Attack on Monterey.

LAREDO, TEXAS, Oct. 27.—Mexican rebels renewed their attack on Monterey at dawn to-day, according to reports received by Mexican leaders in this city. There had been a cessation of fighting here since Saturday night while the rebels were awaiting reinforcements.

Though the fighting had been going on for three days up to this time, the rebels had more than held their own. No Americans or other foreigners had been killed or injured.

NEGRO TAKEN IN MID-AIR GRAPPLE

Call Policemen Watson and O. R. Jones were treated to a wild motor cycle dash and then to a grapple in mid-air with a determined robber, who having fled to the roof of the Burgess Meat Market, fought furiously to throw the officers to the ground, but finally was captured and Monday faced trial in Recorder's Court.

The robber, a negro who gave his name as Paul Johnson, did not succeed in his design, principally because there were two officers.

So the policemen were able to recount their adventure at the police station Monday morning, and even to laugh about it.

Johnson, having been quietly downed and "cuffed," was quiet enough after that.

Johnson is something of a wrestler, but he had his work out for him in full this morning. Then Watson came up and tugged the struggling pair to a safe distance from the roof's edge, where the two overpowered the robber.

Thousands of people, lining the curb, witnessed the "glittering galaxy" of Harnum and Healy's circus parade Monday morning when that "marvel of magic" appeared in Atlanta's prosaic streets heralding the "greatest of them all."

Long before the appointed hour—10 o'clock—the crowds began to assemble. When the first trumpeters composing the vanguard of the line, pranced out of the lot at Rome to lead on their snow-white horses, the streets along which the parade was to pass were lined ten and fifteen deep. The quashing of the early morning brought out one of the largest throngs which ever witnessed such an event in Atlanta. It numbered probably 50,000 persons.

The juvenile representation was the greatest. Smart boys and girls thronged their way between the legs of the parade.

SOLICITOR ACCUSED OF URGING MOB ON

Arnold Declares that Prosecutor and Police Joined in 'Head Hunting' Policy.

Approaching the conclusion of his seething arraignment of the conditions which prevailed at the trial of Leo M. Frank, Attorney Reuben Arnold Monday repeated his accusation that Solicitor Dorsey in obtaining Frank's conviction had appealed to the mob and had held the fear of mob violence before the eyes of the twelve jurors.

Arnold charged that the Solicitor had coerced a verdict and had excited the passions of the crowds by his inflammatory appeals to their just for blood.

"There never was such a spectacle in a Georgia court of justice as that presented by Dorsey's protection of Conley," Arnold said. "He simply picked him up on his shoulders and carried him through the trial. He virtually said, 'You may depend on me, Jim, I will see that you are taken care of.'"

"Instead of maintaining quasi-judicial attitude as the law instructs, Solicitor Dorsey throughout the trial was bitterly partisan and was hand in glove with detectives in their 'head-hunting' policy."

Police Are Attacked.

"The Solicitor and the detectives were just going to get Frank no matter what the opening declaration of Attorney Arnold when the hearing on a new trial resumed Monday morning. The indictment against Frank was brought before the Grand Jury ever since Conley's confession, before there ever was anything to warrant the indictment. I just want to show the spirit that has pervaded the investigation all the way through."

Question of Pardon.

"People have been only too eager to believe Frank a pervert. But from what source did they get their information? They got it from only one person, the miserable lying Jim Conley, who knew his own neck was at stake. I am making no charges, but I require only the merest suggestion from the detectives to persuade Conley to utter this infamous and diabolical accusation. Frank in order to save his own neck."

"What were the detectives doing with Conley all the time they had him? The State's own witness, Detective Harry Scott, admitted that they could not get Frank in order to save his own neck."

"The Solicitor claims that all the circumstances and all the testimony of the case sustain Jim Conley's story, but the fact of the matter is that

'Battle of the Dams' Ends; Bashful Man Gets $300,000 Prize

BOSTON, MASS., Oct. 27.—The "Battle of the Dams" has ended.

"Frodo Dan" Russell has been declared to be the true heir of the late Senator D. B. Russell by Attorney Gilbert A. A. Povey, sitting as master in the famous Daniel Blake Russell identity case. "Frodo Dan" wins the decision over "Dakota Dan" after a legal fight which has been on constantly since September 29, 1909, and is expected to receive an estate of about $200,000.

Povey finds that "Dakota Dan" is Jim Rousseau whose home was in northern New York until he became a rancher in North Dakota.

The master terms "Dakota Dan" "bold, illiterate and immoral." On the other hand, Povey finds that "Frodo Dan" reflects the Russell family traits "that he is 'beautiful, refined and of delicate sensibilities.'"

TELLS LATIN STATES NOT TO FEAR

President Declares Government's Policy is to Foster Friendly Relations With Neighbors.

MOBILE, Oct. 27.—"I want to take this occasion to say that the United States will never again seek another foot of territory on this continent by conquest," declared President Wilson in a stirring address to the Southern Commercial Congress today.

"I come because I want to speak of our present and prospective relations with our neighbors to the south, the Latin-American states," said President Wilson in opening his address.

"The opening of the isthmus of Panama will open the world to the south," he said, "and the Latin-American states which have been off the main line will now be on the main line."

"It is by hard bargaining," he said, "that concessions are granted in the United States; that when capital comes it is invited but not privileged."

"The Latin-American states have had harder bargaining done with them than any other place in the world."

"The President said in the United States is trying to deal with the Latin-American states in terms of equality and honor, and that the State Department is now trying to deal with them in a new spirit."

"America is a synonym for individualism," he said, "but not that the questions of the day are mere questions of expediency. We will never concede inequality because it is convenient to do so."

"A currency system for farmers was proposed for the administration by Senator Fletcher of Florida, in his address before the congress, Senator Fletcher said that he spoke for President Wilson, adding:

"We know that President Wilson does not believe in 'big' talk, and by that sign we are assured that legislation providing a plan which will serve the financial needs of the farmer, is not a thing to be taken up and taken up on the statute books."

"The prominence given to the needs of the farmer by the Southern Commercial Congress was in marked contrast with the national legislation involving the country over the currency reform measure now before the Federal Congress, in which the farmer has had no part."

"Fletcher Quotes Wilson. After touching upon the great agricultural machinery and a distinct system of banking must be provided if rural credits are to be successfully and liberally supplied. This is the great task."

Society Woman to Dance in Thin Robe On Roof in Winter

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—No matter how cold the weather gets, Mrs. Christian Hemmick, Washington society leader, will continue to take her "health dances" in the open air roof garden of her Washington home during the winter, she announces today.

While going through these dances Mrs. Hemmick wears the most deplorable Greek robes, with sandals on her bare feet. She depends entirely upon the stimulated circulation of her blood to keep her warm.

Mrs. Hemmick, who is the leader in all things artistic in Washington society, has many apostles, who are also using or having fitted up open-air dancing pavilions. Mrs. Hemmick and her court soon to dance the tango and modern dances, but take their exercises from the Persians and ancient Greeks.

Doggie's Appetite Too Frequent for Garden

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—Mary Garden, the singer, arrived here today from Europe, bringing with her a miniature Belgian dog no bigger than a kitten and a heavy walking stick.

"I had to feed Mariette (the dog) every 46 minutes all the way across and have a sleep hardly a wink," Miss Garden said as she went to Philadelphia to sing in "Tosca" in a few days.

Savannah Sea Gull Flies to California

VENICE, CAL., Oct. 27.—Seven sea gulls of the Atlantic coast are coming as tourists to California's south and beaches for the winter, according to proof furnished by one gull discovered near Playa del Rey.

On one leg of the bird is a small metal band marked "Delton Hotel, Savannah." The fish of the leg was partly grown over the thin wire holding the tag.

Mrs. Wanner is of the belief that Thaw's term of imprisonment should cease.

DRIVER SHOT AND THIEF ESCAPES

A pistol duel between a burglar and a negro chauffeur centered in the fashionable residential section at Piedmont avenue and Juniper street Sunday.

The burglar was discovered in the two-story servants' house at the rear of the home of Dr. L. M. Crigden, No. 488 Piedmont avenue.

The burglar also was seen at the house the burglar, a negro, began shooting at Knox, who returned the fire. Two bullets penetrated the chauffeur's clothing and a third caused a slight flesh wound.

The burglar escaped, using strips of sheet to descend to the ground.

A lively chase followed in which Police West, McWilliams, Tribble and Gantt participated, but the man escaped.

Negro Taken After Fight With Police on Roof

Call Police Officer Watson and O. R. Jones were treated to a wild motorcycle dash and then to a struggle in mid-air with a determined robber, who having fled to the roof of the Burgess Meat Market, fought furiously to throw the officers to the ground, but finally was captured and Monday was tried in Recorder's Court.

The robber, a negro, who gave his name as Paul Johnson, did not succeed in his design, apparently because there were two officers.

The police were able to reach the roof Sunday morning, and even to laugh about it.

A negro living next door to the Burgess market, at No. 311 Auburn avenue, was awakened by sounds of a burglar in the store. He called the police. They arrived so promptly that the thief was cornered before he realized it.

Escape blocked at both entrances to the building, the robber scrambled up a stairway, and with Jones in close pursuit gained the roof. He retreated to the farther edge of the adjoining roof.

There he halted between the dark and empty void on one side and the approaching officer on the other.

Rather than risk a jump, Johnson fired a surrender, then, closed with the officer and with a spasm of effort strove to whirl him over the edge of the roof.

Something of a wrestler, but he had his work cut out for him to fall the negro. Then Watson came up and seized the struggling pair to a safe distance from the roof's edge, where the two overpowered the robber.

Johnson, having been properly bound and "cuffed," was quiet enough after that.

Hears Dogs' Howls, Finds Husband Dead

LOUISVILLE, KY., Oct. 27.—Awakened by the howling of dogs at an early hour this morning, Mrs. Susan Hays, wife of a painter, in Allen County, made an investigation and found the body of her husband lying on the floor.

His empty gun was at his side. He had shot himself. The authorities are investigating.

CIRCUS CREW TO RECORDE THROUGH

"Undaunted by threatening weather, a mammoth crowd of merry-makers gathered under the "big top" of Barnum & Bailey's circus at Ponce DeLeon grounds to witness the matinee performance Monday afternoon.

A slight rain about noon and heavy clouds apparently had no effect on the afternoon and night performances.

Such a throng would break Atlanta's record even for a visit from the Sultan of Sulu.

Most of the crowd which lined the streets during the morning followed the parade to the circus lot and partook of lunch there mid all the noise and pandemonium which prevails in the vicinity of such a gigantic organization.

Thousands of persons, a large majority of whom were small boys, wandered about the grounds prior to the opening of the main arena at 1 o'clock.

Thousands of people, lining the curbs, witnessed the parade Monday morning when that "marvel of angles" appeared in Atlanta's prospect street heralding the "greatest of them all."

Long before the appointed hour—11 o'clock—the crowds began to assemble. When the first trumpets composing the vanguard of the line paraded out of the lot at Ponce DeLeon their snow-white horses, the streets along which the parade was to pass were lined ten and fifteen deep.

The juvenile representation was the greatest. Small boys and girls thrashed their ways between the legs of their sitters to the forefront of the lines and there with wide eyes and open mouths viewed the mysteries of the circus as they were unveiled before them.

The parade was routed from its lot along Ponce DeLeon avenue to Peachtree street; thence to Forsyth, to Marietta and to Peachtree again. Here it turned back to the grounds via Peachtree and Ponce DeLeon.

Dense Crowd at Five Points. The crowd was greatest at Marietta and Forsyth, and Five Points. Traffic during the procession was demoralized at these places for some time.

They marked places just about what circus people do on week days. They know that the "circuses" roll into town an unearthly hour in the morning, tumble out of their berths about 1 o'clock and walk to the "city," where they are broadcast.

Woman Struggles to Enter Burning Home To Save Prized Piano

An early morning blaze was discovered by the neighbors of L. J. Burns, No. 173 McLendon avenue, in man Park, setting its way up through the roof of the Burns home at 3 o'clock this morning.

The neighbors aroused the family and the fire department extinguished the flames, with the loss of the roof and most of the upper story.

Mrs. Burns, fearing for the loss of a much-prized and expensive piano, made frantic efforts to return to the burning building to help rescue it. Friends restrained her, and the firemen got the instrument out undamaged.

DENOUNCES DORSEY AS PLAYER OF POLITICS

Defense Lawyer Declares Solicitor Resorted to Artifices of Demagogue for Conviction.

That the conviction of Leo Frank was accomplished by crookedness, by the "playing of cards under the table" and the "pulling of every string of prejudice" was the sensational accusation made Monday by Bowen R. Arnold at the hearing for a new trial in the library of the State Capitol. He concluded his speech at the afternoon session.

To this he added the charge that Dorsey had political reasons for pursuing Frank and "shielding the negro."

Dorsey said that no power on earth could compel him to prosecute the negro as the murderer of Mary Phagan," exclaimed Arnold. "There was a mighty good reason for him to say this. He knew that the people almost solidly were against Frank and it is the people that elect him to office."

He vigorously proclaimed that "I'll protect this poor innocent nigger and convict the biggest man in the community if I think it is right."

There has been the cry of the demagogue since the beginning of the world. It has come to be dangerous to be respectable or to have any money. One makes so much better a target for the demagogues who are seeking to make a name for themselves.

Arnold dramatically asserted that he had read about horrible persecutions in other countries, but that he never had come face to face before with such an outrageous persecution as that which was visited upon Frank.

"I never have seen a trial like this," he said, "where such unfair means, such underhanded tricks and devices were used to send a man to the gallows. I hope I may never witness such a spectacle again. I would not have believed such a thing could take place. Neither would my honor have believed it."

He then charged with entertaining violent prejudice against Frank before the trial began, again was the target for the verbal assaults of the attorney. Having earlier in his address made a broad general attack on the juror, Arnold toward the close of his argument took up the specific utterances that were charged against Hendrie and arrayed before Judge Ross the impressive showing of affidavits from persons in Atlanta, Sparta, Monroe and Albany, calling the attention of the court to the fact that Hendrie and Dorsey had not even attempted to impeach the majority of them, who, for the most part, are regarded as leading citizens.

He pointed out that Hendrie, except in two instances, denied only that he had made before the trial the remarks accredited to him, and that

DORSEY CHARGED WITH HEAD HUNTING

Arnold Declares Solicitor and Police Appealed to Mob Spirit for Conviction.

In one case where he had denied Dorsey in Albany on July 13, completely had been proved by the hotel register and by a carbon copy of an order which Hennessy himself had signed...

Arnold contended that he had made out a plain and unobjectionable copy of the order and that Hennessy had signed it by persons of unobjectionable reputation and standing in their respective communities.

Roper Interrupts Arnold. Roper, chief of counsel for Frank, interrupted Arnold at one point to make the charge that the pencil memorandum supporting the motion made by Hennessy in the daily movements of the State as a salesman had been written at one time by Hennessy after the charges had been made against Dorsey.

Police Are Attacked. The Solicitor and the District Attorney were just going to get Frank out of the room when the declaration of Attorney Arnold resumed Monday morning. The indictment against Frank was brought before the Grand Jury ever knew about Dorsey's confession, before there ever was anything to warrant the indictment.

Question of Persuasion. "I don't believe Frank a pervert. But from what source did you get that information? They got it from only one person, the miserable thing Jim Conley, who knew his own neck was at stake. I am making no charges, but it required only the merest suggestion from the detectives to persuade Conley to utter this infamous and diabolical lie against Frank in order to save his own neck."

The Solicitor claims that all the circumstances and the facts of the case sustain Jim Conley's story, but the fact of the matter is that Conley's story never was corroborated except by the testimony of the five witnesses before the Grand Jury. Conley's confession and the fact that the confession itself was made to Conley.

Arnold contended that Conley was supported by none of the witnesses of Dorsey, and advanced his reasons. Arnold said that the idea that Conley walked in Frank's direction while women laughed at the police officer.

Arnold contended that he had made out a plain and unobjectionable copy of the order and that Hennessy had signed it by persons of unobjectionable reputation and standing in their respective communities.

Cloud-Stanford Co. TO REORGANIZE

Entire stock to be sold at greatly reduced prices, beginning Monday morning at 9 o'clock

THE BUSINESS of Cloud-Stanford Co., organized in 1908, has grown and thrived for five and a half years.

We have built a business during this time which we can refer to with pride, for we doubt that any store has the support of a more representative clientele than we.

Interests which heretofore have been represented in this business are to be altered somewhat to further the progress and add to the capital of this institution.

New ideas are to be injected. New lines are to be added. Certain policies which, in the main, have been successful, but which require changing to meet new conditions, are to be incorporated.

The business must be expanded to cope with the new conditions which have come about in the past five years.

In order to meet these new conditions it is necessary for us to convert our entire stock into cash immediately.

To clear out a stock completely requires drastic price-cutting, and notwithstanding the natural loss of profits in so doing, we have concluded to name prices so very low on Clothing, Hats and Furnishings that this sale will be irresistible.

One of the primary reasons for inaugurating a sale as outlined above is for the purpose of raising cash. As a matter of fact, raising funds is imperative, but in so doing we wish to avoid undue annoyance to our former loyal charge customers, and in lieu of placing the sale on a strictly cash basis, we will continue to charge goods to those who have formerly had active charge accounts with us on the following basis: NO CHARGES TO BE CARRIED ON THE BOOKS FOR MORE THAN THIRTY DAYS FOR THIS SALE.

This rule will be strictly adhered to on our part and we trust will be given equal support by our customers.

The changes which are to be made in the conduct of business will in no way affect the future character of this Shop or its personnel.

RIP VAN WINKLES IN AD CONTEST ARE WANNERS

Plodders Get Ahead Before You Know It, and Only Three Weeks of Race Remain.

You have read the story of Rip Van Winkle; how he slept for twenty years on the mountain side, and when he awoke he was unable to recognize his surroundings.

There is a fellow you know when you feel asleep. He is only a plodder and entered the Wink. Ad Contest underhanded. No one noticed him at first.

Are you talking about the fellow who has brought about this awful catastrophe? For shame, you are only yourself to blame.

Get busy now and keep busy until the close of the contest. It is not quite three weeks off. The result of your efforts may be a big touring car, $5,000 in gold, Indian motorcycle, piano player, gold, beautiful diamond jewelry, or one of the many other prizes offered in The Georgian's great $5,000 Wink Ad Contest.

DELIGHT ON POLITICS BY JAMES B. NEVIN

Governor John M. Slaton is about reaching the Jackson County Fair in Commerce today.

The Governor makes it a point to attend every county fair he finds it possible to get to, without neglecting the public business; and while there he generally summons the people as to the new tax equalization law.

There seems to be little doubt that a real race for Congress is on in the Eleventh District, where State Senator W. L. Converse, of Lawton, has determined to contest the seat of Representative Randall Walker.

It is a noteworthy fact that the newspapers in this State are almost solidly backing the new law, and in that connection it is interesting to observe how many of them are being asked to question rights toward the state.

Right here in Gwinnett County there are $5,000 acres that are not taxed, and $500,000 worth of property which are not taxed.

It is right for the Legislature to carry the burden of taxation for these delinquents? No man who understands the state and purposes of this new law and what it will accomplish if properly enforced has any ground for dissatisfaction, unless he be an outrageous "dodger" and wishes his neighbor to pay his just taxes for him!

Many other newspapers in Georgia are bringing this matter right home to their readers, and the result has been plainly seen in a better understanding of the new law and justice and equity.

Judge Ed Hines, of Milledgeville, is an Atlanta visitor.

Judge Hines generally is looked upon as the section of the State as likely Supreme or Appeals Court material, and it will not be tremulously brought to the attention of the general public.

Representative Sam Olive, of Richmond, whose principal job in the General Assembly is looking like William Jennings Bryan, is in Atlanta attending the Supreme Court.

Mr. Olive, besides looking far away like the Nebraska orator, is him, oratorically also, being far and away the most eloquent member of the present House.

Mr. Olive has just returned from New York, where he says the Mayor's race was on a "no cities" basis. He was interested in that race, particularly because of the fact that one Georgian, "Bob" Admonson, is managing the Mitchell end of it.

All Congressmen to 'Chip In' for Gift to White House Bride

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—The "White House bride," as Miss Jessie Wilson is generally spoken of in Washington, is home after a visit with friends, and the wedding plans have been given new impetus.

Minority Leader Mann voted the universal good wishes of the members of the House of Representatives toward Miss Wilson. He proposed that the members "chip in" and send a substantial wedding gift to her.

His proposal was taken up with acclaim, and Speaker Clark announced that he would appoint a committee to arrange the details. The gift will probably be a pearl necklace.

MEXICAN ELECTORAL MASO; HUERTA REMAINS IN SEAT; TROOPS REPEL STALL ROTTS

Special Cable to The Atlanta Georgian. MEXICO CITY, Oct. 27.—This city today as the appearance of an armed force today as returns from scattered districts means that no candidate had received a majority of the votes cast in the Presidential election. Although no discommodated the balloting, here Sunday and there was no disturbance during the night, troops were brought to the city at dawn to prevent any further promulgation of official announcement from the Government that the balloting had resulted in an election.

More than 2,000 troops were moved into the city during the night. Fear of an outbreak of violence was increased by the receipt of dispatches from Vera Cruz, stating that Felix Diaz would leave there during the day and come to the Capital. The result of the election means that Victoriano Huerta will remain in office as President. In the returns from the States and Federal District, Pedro G. Gamboa, former Minister of the Interior, and Felix Diaz, are running a close race, but because of the vote cast for other candidates and the other of these men will have a slim majority.

Less Than Legal Total Vote. The number of votes cast is also less than one-third of the total voting strength of the Republic, which is required by the constitution to make an election legal.

The election is not hampered by this constitutional provision, and it is expected that the Catholic party, headed by Gamboa and supported by Huerta, will have control in the Congress. This assures Huerta full control in the legislative branch, which is usually threatened in the last Congress controlled by Moderates.

The outstanding feature of the election is the fact that it has been attended by Huerta in his position as dictator.

It is believed that the election would have been free from all the usual conditions of a Presidential election, but for the fact that the army was used to enforce the election.

Few Ballots Cast. The number of ballots cast in the election was very small. It is estimated that only a few hundred ballots were cast in the election.

Blancet Is Eligible. The result of the election will not be definitely known until the newly elected Congress meets in November and passes upon the returns.

The Fact That "Madame Irene" Corsets Are Favored by So Many Smart Women Has Its Significance

We might tell and retell the merits of "Madame Irene" Corsets, with more or less success in convincing the individual, but the fact that so many women who are "up" on such matters favor the "Madame Irene" tells the whole story at once.

Asked why, these women would probably say that the lines of a "Madame Irene" Corset are those of the present-day fashion, and that they are comfortable; the materials are beautiful; the trimmings neat and dainty; the whole effect one of grace and elegance.

But to go a bit further into the why—"Madame Irene" Corsets are of Parisian descent. Madame Irene herself (the designer) spends a good portion—at different times—of her year in Paris. She learns what the Parisian style wizards are doing and what the Parisian corsetiere is doing, and brings this knowledge and the materials to America to make "Madame Irene" Corsets for American women. The result is that which usually follows the most painstaking effort, sometimes called genius.

Madame Irene Corsets Are Priced From $5.00 to $37.50

There are Broaded, Silk Batistes, Imported Coutils, Tricots, Silk Suedes and Elastic Corsets (these last have come in for unusual praise by many eminent surgeons), in styles that belong distinctively to Madame Irene and the fall of 1913.

"The Successor" Is the Madame Irene Understudy

It is priced at $2.75 to $6.00. Made by the same people, who, believing in their styles, would not make corsets along other lines. The difference is a matter of material and finishing, and still there are "Successors" in French Coutil, Silk Batiste, Suedine, Brocade and a new Linen Poplin.

VIRGINIA TAKES HOT STRUGGLE FROM GEORGIA

Forward Pass Decides Battle During Final Minutes of Play. Score Is 13 to 6.

By Innis Brown, Famous College Football Official.

RICHMOND, Oct. 25.—Virginia's first football game since 1914 was a hotly contested affair at the University of Virginia today. The game was a margin of one touchdown over the group representing the State University of Georgia Saturday afternoon at Ponce DeLeon. The score was 13 to 6, Virginia making one goal from a touchdown in two attempts while Georgia lost her only chance for an additional point from this source by failing to make a fair catch on the punt.

Early in the game, a much-mooted forward pass proved the deciding factor in the game. In fact, this method of attack really produced the only score of the game, having been directly responsible for two touchdowns, one by Virginia and one by Georgia, and making possible the third and deciding score for the victors. But for a swift, sharp shot of the ball from George White with the last four minutes of play, the Georgia team would have had the opportunity of doing a job, as it were, through the streets of the city Saturday night, prompted by the satisfaction of having held the ball for Virginia to take to the wire. In the face of what was considered big odds.

Shortly after the opening of the game, the Georgia team developed a decided kick-off strategy. The Red and Black started with the kick-off on its own 50-yard line. Powell, the Georgia halfback, kicked the ball 20 yards, where he was blocked by the Georgia line. The ball was then treated with the back of a kicking foot for Georgia. The kick was not worth anything, but he came back with a 50-yard punt. The Georgia line was only to take it away and a 50-yard punt. The goal line was moved to the offense of holding committed by the Georgia line. The goal line was moved to the offense of holding committed by the Georgia line. The goal line was moved to the offense of holding committed by the Georgia line.

thereafter, clipping off 14 yards past Virginia's left flank. A few further attempts were successfully checked by the Virginia, and Henderson again hoisted, sending the ball well into Virginia territory, the first time it had been thrown into Georgia territory from a high line on the kick-off.

Battle on Even Terms. The little raged back and forth from that point on, without either side gaining any material advantage until less than one minute before the end of the first quarter. At that point Virginia had worked the ball to Georgia's 10 yards by a series of short, steady gains. Working through the right wing of the first quarter was manifested from Leland to White, who had crossed the line for the first score of the game. The pass was short and was well executed.

The second quarter found the ball in Georgia's possession on her 20-yard line, where it had been placed by Powell after a nice return of George's kick-off just before the first period closed. McWhorter took through the right wing of the first quarter was manifested from Leland to White, who had crossed the line for the first score of the game. The pass was short and was well executed.

At that point on it was a new scene as well as a new situation. The Georgia team, which had been leading 13 to 6, was now trailing 13 to 6. The Georgia team, which had been leading 13 to 6, was now trailing 13 to 6. The Georgia team, which had been leading 13 to 6, was now trailing 13 to 6.

the anxious mits of Mr. White, who was some three yards short of the line, by a Georgia tackle. Had showed a bit of real drive on the next play by tearing through the center of the Georgia line for the final touch-down.

Exactly three minutes and fifty-six seconds remained to play after the touchdown was registered. Georgia received the kick-off, and straightway began a series of maneuvers which he near calling on the Georgia team to give McWhorter an opportunity of leading into an open field. However, the Virginia were busy for everything of such a nature, so doubt fearing that Georgia was relying solely on getting McWhorter into the open at this juncture. Big Bob never had a chance.

The opposition were doing his stiffest and they were covering up accordingly. The final whistle blew from the Georgia's possession on Georgia's 20-yard line. From the spectators' standpoint, it would have been hard to figure out the intricacies of the game. The Georgia team had been operating the play from the left wing, and with considerable more than the Virginia team, which had been operating the play from the right wing.

Virginia scored first with a touchdown. The Georgia team, which had been leading 13 to 6, was now trailing 13 to 6. The Georgia team, which had been leading 13 to 6, was now trailing 13 to 6. The Georgia team, which had been leading 13 to 6, was now trailing 13 to 6.

Football Advice for Schoolboys Heisman Has Many Good Pointers

By J. W. Heisman.

WHEREVER you are going to play football, you should always pass it low. Never toss it toward his face, or even at his chest. The snapper should immediately rebuff before he is clapped his hands on it. The proper height is well below the waistline of the man to whom you are snapping or passing.

Now, the only way to carry a football is to hold it in the hand with the right arm, and then place the hand of the left arm over the other end of the ball. If you will take pains to do this, you will find that no matter how hard a blow someone strikes it, you will not find it from your grasp.

HARVARD REIGNS SUPREME OVER EASTERN TEAMS

Dartmouth Ranks Second to Crimson Eleven at Present Rating. Princeton Defeat Big Blow.

By Frank G. Menke.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Harvard's 9-day cruise supports in the Eastern section of the football field with Dartmouth second, Princeton third and Yale and Pennsylvania about tied for fourth place. One of the big reasons of this season is that Harvard and Dartmouth for the first time in many years have met. Just now it looks as if the champion must be chosen between these two teams and not from Harvard, Princeton or Yale, as in former years.

Early in the contest in which Harvard figures most forcibly demonstrated a steady decline in the team's ability. Just this year is one of the best that Harvard has ever had. The team's aggression and astuteness in the line of play, and the skill of the offense and a smashing, dashy offense that no opponent has been able to stop.

Expert Says Ad Should Have Walked Out of Game With Battle After Recent Go.

By W. W. Naughton.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 21.—Very evidently the reason for the retirement of Ad Wolcast by Ad Wolcast, the former pitcher of the San Francisco Giants, is that he has had a bad case of the "retirement" disease. Ad Wolcast, who has been in the Giants' lineup for several years, has been suffering from a condition known as "retirement" for some time. He has been unable to perform up to his usual standard, and his manager, John McGraw, has decided to retire him. Naughton says that Wolcast should have walked out of the game after his recent performance, rather than being benched.

Wolcast Now Due to Retire, Says Naughton

Expert Says Ad Should Have Walked Out of Game With Battle After Recent Go.

By W. W. Naughton.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 21.—Very evidently the reason for the retirement of Ad Wolcast by Ad Wolcast, the former pitcher of the San Francisco Giants, is that he has had a bad case of the "retirement" disease. Ad Wolcast, who has been in the Giants' lineup for several years, has been suffering from a condition known as "retirement" for some time. He has been unable to perform up to his usual standard, and his manager, John McGraw, has decided to retire him. Naughton says that Wolcast should have walked out of the game after his recent performance, rather than being benched.

The Big Brown Rat That Lives in Grant Park

He Never Goes Over to Look at the Lake. His Hole in the Ground Interests Him.

He is a friendly big rat, with deep brown fur like that of a mink. He lives in Grant Park. Perhaps his father or mother was some unusual rat escaped from the zoo close by.

You pass his hole at the foot of a small tree on the east side of the drive. When you watch him he watches you. He does not go down into his hole unless you presume too much and get close enough to see his eyes distinctly.

Then he goes down, but soon comes up and keeps the tree between you and him. He does not like to miss the end of the day.

He is wonderfully active, alert and EFFICIENT.

His trail leads from the foot of the tree beside the drive to the landlocked body of water upon which the little rowboats lie at night and on stormy days, going on the lake when it is safe.

His engine is his heart, the nerves are his "transmission" and ignition, his lungs are his carburetor, and the brain in the rat skull—as mysterious as your own brain—is his driver.

He lives happy in his domain, never doubting that the whole park was made for him, as we little beings believe the whole universe was made for us. He is quite sure that the boats passing by his rathole on the drive are NOT inhabited, and that no intelligent mind created them. He is an agnostic—you can't make him believe anything that he can not understand and prove—and, as he can not understand or prove very much, he is a happy and self-satisfied rat, and knows that the yarn about the park being laid out and the drive made "on purpose" is a fairy story not to be swallowed by any AGNOSTIC rat.

He runs up and down his little path, lives in his hole at the foot of the tree, looks with contempt at the queer gray animals with bushy tails that live UP the tree, and some day he will die in his hole, with his teeth grown long, and die convinced that he has not missed anything that life had to offer.

You may see that rat some evening if you will take the trouble to visit Grant Park and watch at the right spot.

You can see many rats like him in any part of Atlanta or any big city. They are humans, not rodents, two-legged and without fur, but intellectually they, too, are rats.

They live in their little holes and have their little runways. They deny what they can't understand, and they never look at the big lake, which, to human beings walking erect, is a great, mysterious sky of night with all its beauty and grandeur.

Beautiful is Lake Abana, but the brown rat cares nothing for it.

The sun is down, leaving behind him enough light to cover the water with deep, dark purple.

The rising moon fights with pale light against thin clouds and against the bright memory of the sun just gone. A wind full of life and power blows across the water carrying cold with it. The trees are taking on the dreariness of winter.

In the southwest one great planet shines with pure light. When you will have been dead a million years that noble light will shine in that same spot, and then, perhaps, men will begin to know and appreciate "the lake" near which they live.

It is the lake of infinite space and unending time, the lake of the stars and planets, comets and nebulae—the lake in which solar systems are the units, the Milky Way a single current and we microscopic atoms of life clinging to a grain of sand.

The brown rat of Grant Park never takes any interest in the lake which is a few yards from his hole—10,000 miles could not separate him from it more completely. And if he did take interest in it, it would mean to him only dreariness, horror and terror—it is too big for his brain, too overwhelming for his courage.

We rats that live here do not see OUR great lake, the eternal, infinite universe in which our grain of sand is rolling.

And because we are cosmic rats, and less than rats, we recoil from it in terror and horror, as that brown rat would recoil from the lake so near him.

We invent time and space and the clock to comfort us. We plan a gilded heaven at the top of infinity and a painful hell at the bottom. We can not bear to look at it as it is. We can not bear to face it, study it and reverse it.

But man, built to stand straight and look at the sky, will not forever be a human rat, living in an intellectual hole in the ground.

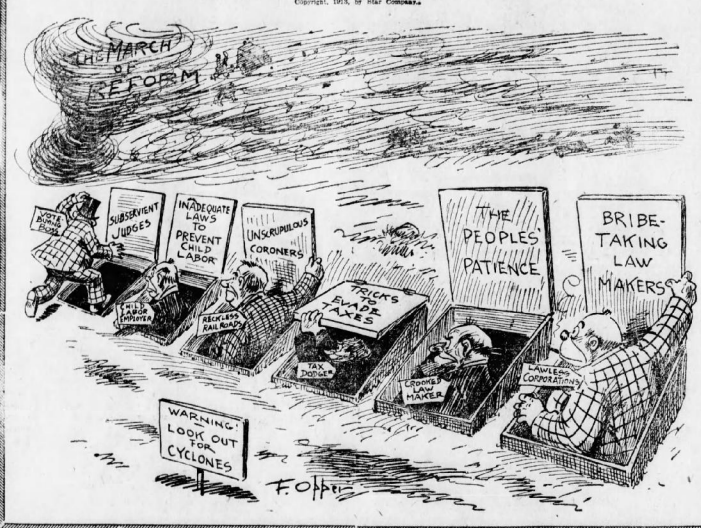

The stars that come out one by one and look down so coldly will see a different race as the thousands of centuries go by. They will see us always tiny, feeble, pitiful little beginnings of thought, for we can not rise above our planet. But they will see man at least not afraid to face his destiny and study the universe that contains him.

Man will find the courage to live mentally and to THINK as far out in the universe as his telescope will carry him—and far beyond.

He will glory in the fact that he dwells in the infinite and can think in the infinite.

He will not be forever the mental brother of the rat of Grant Park.

Writes on Those Trade Treaties

"A dozen nations at different times found that the disadvantages of them outweighed the advantages. They, therefore, terminated the treaties, as they had a right to do."

By JOHN TEMPLE GRAVES

THE new tariff's 5 per cent discount off the duty on imports in American territory is only a short step in the direction of building up our marine. It is merely a beacon, a guide, it indicates a policy. It is a beginning, not an end.

Friendships Maintained.

During the past hundred years the United States has concluded trade treaties with 42 nations. We now have such agreements with twenty different countries.

Methods of Rivalry.

In a speech in the House of Representatives, in 1910, Mr. Underwood said: "Shipping nations were not honest enough between themselves for the application of free trade principles to navigation and commerce of our rivers, while professing to practice a policy of non-discrimination against American ships."

Treaties Disastrous.

Provision was inserted in each treaty defining the procedure by which either party could terminate it. If we conform to the prescribed procedure we discharge in full all our obligations.

THE HIGH ROAD

By LILIAN LAURETY.

FOR no quiet by-path, no peaceful little lane, No wandering and shy path uncultured by wind and rain: No garden spot, far hidden from paths that men must tread, Where strife is all unbidden and energy is dead.

I choose the stiller high road for all its glaring dust, That path shall still be my road where I shall walk and trust, Through struggle and through sorrow I still may do and dare And earn each new-to-morrow with hands that toil and care.

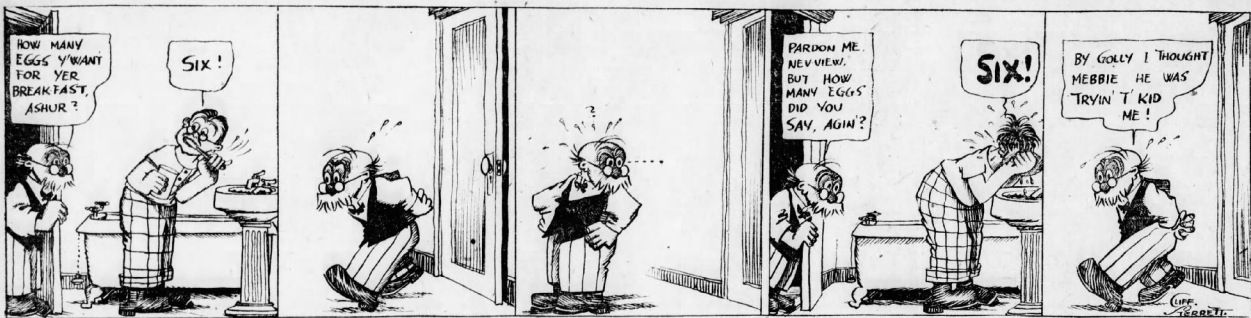

Perhaps the world will call me a loser in the strife, But 'twould man's scorn befall me I still must live my life In loyalty unswerving to standards and to friends So heaven's I'll be deceiving when Life's great high road ends.

RIP VAN WINKLES IN AD CONTEST ARE WARNED

Plodders Get Ahead Before You Know It, and Only Three Weeks of Race Remain. You have read the story of Rip Van Winkle who slept for twenty years on the mountain side, and when he awoke he was unable to recognize his surroundings. Have you ever stopped to ask yourself whether you were a modern Rip Van Winkle? Have you been asleep these many weeks while your competitors were toiling upward? Are you behind the times? WAKE UP! Awake yourself. Look about you. There is a fellow you know when you fall asleep. He was only a plodder and entered the Want Ad Contest unprepared. No one noticed him at first. No one wanted to help him. But he did not allow that to discourage him. He kept plodding along, refusing to halt by the roadside, until now he commands notice. He has climbed the heights, but he

Anti-Opium Law of Philippines Upheld

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—The anti-opium law of the Philippines enacted by the Philippine commission, and alleged by C. I. Lee, a Chinese, to violate acts of the United States Congress, was held by the Supreme Court of the United States today to be valid. Lee, who is alleged to have been a party to the smuggling conspiracy and who was convicted under the laws and sentenced to prison, asserted the commission had exceeded its powers. The conviction of Lee, which was affirmed by the Supreme Court of the Philippines, was up- held by the United States court. Lee is still the plodder. While you have been trying to break the record set by the immortal Rip he has been going steadily upward, and now your positions are reversed. Whereas you were first wont to look down upon him, he must now bend his neck to see you. Are you rattling at the fates that have brought about this awful catastrophe? Rip shouts: "You have only yourself to blame. Had you tried just as hard as the plodder you might now be even higher than he is. But he is not too late to recover the lead, though it will take long strides between you materially. If you don't give in to this you'll be among the foremost at the finish. Let busy now and keep busy until the close of the contest, which is not quite three weeks off. This results of your efforts may be a big touring car, $1,000 in gold, Indian motorcycle, piano player, piano, beautiful diamond ring, one of the many other splendid prizes offered in 'The Georgian's' great $5,000 Want Ad Contest."

THE DIAMOND A THRILLING STORY OF A MODERN CRISTO

BY EDWARD J. COLE. TODAY'S INSTALLMENT. "This is one of my treasures which you have never seen," he said, with a somewhat ominous air. It had not been in the light for many years. He recalled to his friend's wondering eyes the tattered suit, the alpaca boots, the ragged shirt and cap, the musty deer legs associated with that wonderful month of March of a decade earlier. He reverently unfolded some of his mother's garments, and his eyes were moist as he surveyed them. "But from the pocket of the portmanteau he produced a package wrapped in paper. One by one he read them aloud, though he winced at the remembrance of the agony his mother must have endured as she experienced each rebuff from Lady Mortland and her husband's relatives. "I wanted a model for a coat," he said, bitterly. "I think the general manager of these corporations has never seen a man's suit. As he closed the valise he saw my mood vanished. "Do you know," he said, "that this old-looking portmanteau, always locked, has hidden my father's considerable fortune for me and for my home? I believe he hid it and for a while under the impression that I kept my diamonds safe. "By the way, that reminds me of a request from Isaacson. As all the larger diamonds have now been discovered, he thinks that some of the smaller ones should be sold. They are unobtainable at present. "Very well. Let us begin at a day next week and overhaul the entire collection. I intend to keep the highest one to form a necklace, and give away of that."

Methodist Men to Finance Missions

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 27.—The National Convention of Methodist men, which opens here to-morrow, to last until next Friday, promises to be the greatest gathering in the history of the Methodist Episcopal Church. Close to 5,000 delegates are in the city. The object of the gathering is to perfect the new financial policy of the church in such a way as to go away entirely with the necessity of ministers "begging" for funds for their own and their churches' needs. The presentation was made at Mr. Hafer's Peaches home Sunday night when a party of his Masonic friends took him by surprise. He was notified last week of his selection for the thirty-third degree, is causing Ed- ward M. Hafer to wear a smile.
