DAILY COUPON, December 22

Almost alone in the Piano industry of this country stands a man who has devoted over forty years to the study of a single problem---tone production---

This man is J. Frank Conover

Today, over a faultless sounding board, he weaves with strings of accurate proportion the soft shades of tone--splendidly blending with them those qualities which are rich, round and resonant.

CONOVER

For a handsome Christmas gift for your wife, daughter or for your friend, one that will last a lifetime, the Conover Piano in Grands and Uprights invites your consideration.

You Have 20 Hours to Do Your Xmas Shopping

SINCE we do not keep open nights, you have just 20 hours in which to do your Xnas shopping.

We do not say this to hurry you input to the last busy moment you will find here—fairly complete stocks—prompt, individual attention—and always that personal touch in our service, which makes shopping easy and pleasant.—Neither is the "20-hour warning" for us. From the experience of the past 46 Xmas seasons we have learned to utilize every precious moment for your comfort and convenience. But what is possible for a trained organization of over half a thousand workers is not possible for an individual. The "20-hour warning" is sounded to help you use gach busy moment advantageously.

160 New Coats Have Arrived in Time for Christmas Giving, and So

You Still Have Two Days and the Fine Stocks of this Store Before You

Gift seekers can do much in little time in the ChamberlinJohnson-DuBose Co.'s Store.

To begin with the store itself is a spacious, big place, the aisles are wide, there are no cluttering and interfering tables scattered about, and then the merchandise is splendidly displayed, bright and active salespeople are at your service.

But over and above these points is the fact that the Merchandise is the right sort.

Trained good taste has brought it here.

It is not hard to choose choice gifts where there are such ehoice gifts to choose from. Suppose we name a few:

Umbrellas Comfortables Blankets inens China

Hosiery Handkerchiefs Jewelry Leather Goods Lamps

Gloves Art Goods
Furniture
Sheffield Plate

And what would Christmas be without the toys? No toys in Atlanta like those of the new Toy Store in the Bazaar. If Santa Claus is not ready then there is but one thing to do the first thing in the morning.

Although we request (in the Christmas spirit) that you take small parcels with you, you may depend upon our augmented delivery service to get your packages to you on time.

A Sale of Coats

Such news!

Let's hurry to tell it.

Last Tuesday night the Coat and Suit buyer hurried away to New York, and his going meant much to the women of Atlanta.

He is back today with the highest values in Coats that we have known since most Santa Clauses were very young.

Makers of Coats who earn a big bit of our business in the regular season, sold him Coats at prices that were, to say the least, very unusual.

They say it is the weather conditions, certainly it is not the Coats.

So a sale, a sale typical of Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose Co. sales.

Will you give a Coat? Will you stop your Christmas shopping a moment to share the savings for yourself?

Here are the price facts:

1.00 For $18.50 and $20 Coats

Black and navy chinchillas, two-tone striped fabrics, brocades in brown, navy and gray, black, Ural lamb cloths---smart lines, elegantly tailored and lined. A half dozen styles.

For $20 to $27.50 Coats Baby doll cloth, Persian lamb, brocades, matelasses, black and navy. Plush trimmings, fine satin linings in black and contrasting colors. Coats of style, all. The choosing will be fine. $15.00 For $25 to $31.75 Coats

Choose from brocaded velours, in brown, taupe, navy and black, taupe crushed plush broadcloth and Persian lamb; some are even fur trimmed. Kimono sleeves.

0.00 For $30 to $45 Coats

Rich velours and velvets and ribbed materials, pebble eponges, matelasses in Copenhagen, navy, gray and black. Fur collars and cuffs. Many are copies of late Parisian models.

One Hundred Ninety-Seven NEW Suits Have Come In!

They are NEW not only in the sense of having just arrived but in line and fashioning, and best of all they are suits that regularly would be $30 to $45, they are $17.50 to $30.

Half of them are the wanted broadcloths, fur trimmings abound and the colors are black, navy, Copenhagen, the new green, ruby, plum, taupe.

It is remarkable, too, that highway funds derived from this source are increasing from season to season. Public enthusiasm, far from waning after its first impulse, is gathering strength and impetus. The more money the people put into good reads, the more they are willing to add. Such improvements as are made simply point the way to others that are needed.

This, however, a only what might be expected, for, after all the greatest incentive to good roads is good roads. Let the work of development once begin, and it is peaks so persuasively that it will be continued without ceasin: A county that builds and maintains good roads soon becomes a convincing example for its neighbors. Its land value's increase, its farms are more prosperous, its schools better attendtrems are more prosperous, its schools better attend-d, its commerce quickens and extends and every phere of its interest pulses with new life.

How Best to Develop the South.

While we are strving to utilize the material resources of the South, to turn its coal and iron and timber and water powers into washeren atting factors. It is even more important that the wast undeveloped, unutilized resources of the untrained and uneducated boys and girls of this section should be utilized by fitting them by education and by the training of work, and the education should be utilized by fitting them by education and by the training of work, and the education that fit them for responsibilities of life, used to the section while striping to the fitting to the south of the south, still greater wforts should be made to improve the souls and bodies of the undeveloped and unimproved men and women and developed and unimproved men and women and support of the south, still greater wforts should be made to improve the souls and bodies of the undeveloped and unimproved men and women and support of the sould be sould be sould be supported by the support of the sould be supported by the sould be supported by the supported by the support of the su every one, of its farms conducted by methods like those employed in the corn clubs! The State's production of food and of all other staples would increase beyond reckoning, and the interests of commerce and industry grow accordingly.

Education pays, not only in ultimate, ideal results but also in immediate, practical affairs. It means foresight, power, progress and weath. It tells for the benefit of the community and the State no less than for that of the individual. It opens new fields of toportunity, releases new forces of development and adds to the common fund of prosperity. If the South would utilize its material resources, it must first utilize its human resources.

What is true of agriculture is true of every other field of endeavor. The prime factors in commercial and industrial enterprise are skilled energy and thought. These, as the Manufacturer's Record declares, mean more than all the coal and iron and time of this or any other section. Give us a sufficient number of competent workers and leaders, and there will be no difficulty or delay in developing the South's natural treasure.

The South's problem of education may be reduced to certain specific terms. The prime need, perhaps, is that of a more extensive and a more generously supported system of common schools. The University Club of Atlanta recently propounded this searching visation:

"Do you know that the percentage of illiteracy among white children of school age has increased during the last five years in fifty-one counties of Georgia-more than one-third of all the counties of the State! Do you realise that Georgia is one of the backward States in education—that our calculational development is not keeping pace with our scatth?"

our wealth?"

It might well be added that, unless our ed-It might well be added that, unless our educational development does keep pace with our wealth, our wealth itself will soon reach a limit and decline; for, enduring prosperity is not built upon mental and goval incapacity. It is a deplorable fact that the percentage of illiteracy should have increased if fifty-one counties of Georgia during the last five years, a fact of which our Legislature should take serious note when it is again presented a compulsory eshool attendance law. Such a condition is detrimental to the most practical interests as well as the highest interests of the commonwealth.

Agricultural and technological schools are of espeests of the commonwealth.

Agricultural and technological schools are of especial importance in the 'south's present stage of growth. They should be liberally supported. The Agricultural College of Georgia and the Georgia School of Technology are of inacticulable power for the development and enrichment of the State. Every dollar the Legislature appropriates to these and kindred institutions is returned at thousandfold in good to the people. Universities and colleges which measure up to the true ideal of education are no less useful than institutions devoted the same of the conduction of the conduct Universities and colleges which measure up to the true ideal of education are no less useful than institutions devoted to special training. "The spritts are not touched but to fine issues," said Shakespeare. From colleges and universities come the impirers and the leadwards of a people. There was once a popular fallacy that higher education, instead of fitting boy for life, dulled their sense of practical things or at least delayed their progress in the world for a fairs. Fortunately, however, that prejudice is melting away under the light of scores and hundreds of shining examples to the contrary. A giance through "Who's Who" in America will convince the most skeptical that a rounded education, is a spur to leadership and an aid to success.

Education, however, means, more than common schools, more than institutions for special training, more than colleges and universities. It means the illumination and enriciment, the quickening and development of the people's common life. It means opportunities for social enjoyment in rural districts; it means social betterment in cities. It means the united exertion of public and private agencies for better and happier living.

The great problem of the South, and for that matter the problem of all sections, problem of human development. It is very graftfying to hear a publication like the Manufacturers' Record—a trade journal—lifting its voice in behalf of this ideal.

The poor who eat free Christmas dinners, will have to scuffle just the same the rest of the time.

Washington is more human than one might think. Many people there want to return home for Christmas.

The great popula

scrupuous persons to wrap rank imitations that are not even real chewing gum so they resemble genuine WRIGLEY'S. The better class of stores will not try to fool you with these imitations. They will be offered to you principally by street fakirs, peddlers and the candy departments of some 5 and 10 cent stores. These rank imitations cost dealers one cent a package or even less and are sold to careless people for atmost any price. If you want Wrigley's look before you buy. Get what you pay for. Bo SURE It's WRIGLEY'S.

We are inserting the above caution solely to protect our customers, who are continuelly writing us that they have been deceived by imitations which they parchased thinking they were WEIGLETTS.
