"I say to you the murderer of Mary Phagan was the writer of the notes found near her dead body," demanded Leo M. Frank Friday afternoon in his first verbal attempt to reporters since his conviction. "If they had found that, would they say I did the murder?" "If they had found Conroy's pistol, would they have said I did it?" "If they had found a piece of his clothing, tipped in her fingers, would they have said I did it?" He leaned forward in the chair which bears the mark of the prison as much as the bars themselves. Heard forward in the iron bars, pressed against the iron until his nails turned blue. He broke through quickly, opened and shut his lips in a stream of emotion, and looked with eager, demanding expression into the eyes of his hearers.

THOS. J. DONALDSON IS DISMISSED FROM SERVICES OF COUNTY

"It is unfair to discriminate between men who are indicted and those who are not indicted," said General Anderson. "General, do you believe that twenty-three or twenty-four citizens would command the discharge of a county official unless they knew what they were doing?" he was asked.

"Certainly, I've known similar cases," he replied. "In this instance the evidence was presented by a very nervous young man who failed to bring out any facts save those that were condemnatory. Personally, I would not say any man without hearing both sides."

Commissioner Wain said he would not have introduced his resolution if Captain Donaldson did not voluntarily resign, as he had hoped Donaldson would after the convict's return.

Just previous to adjournment, Mr. Davidson, of the prison board, declared that Fulton county was not alone in holding some of the laws in regard to convict camps, as not a single county in the state complied with the law that required a written certificate of a county official character stated by the ordinary of the county to be presented to the board.

In accordance with the request of the board, the county commissioners inform the grand jury which met on the 23rd of the jury's recommendations, the county clerk was directed to call the grand jury room at 1 o'clock, where Clerk Henry Ward read the grand jury action of the board.

The grand jury met at once this afternoon. While the board complied in the main with the recommendations of the grand jury by discharging Captain Donaldson, it is understood that the grand jury will draw up additional recommendations in a day or two recommending the dismissal of the Donaldson influence.

The board was fully into the question of improving conditions in the convict camps. Mr. E. Davidson, chairman of the Georgia prison commission, met with the grand jury and following a discussion of conditions in the camp an order was issued directing the public works committee of the county board to make such sanitary changes as are needed in the camps.

Among other things shown here were orders installed in the various camps on motion of Commissioner Shingler, and separate men's halls are to be provided so that the convicts will not have to eat in the same hall where they sleep.

Commissioner Davidson said that three years ago he had taken up charges as to the sanitary conditions of the camps with Superintendent Donaldson, but that no action was taken.

BECKER MAY VACATE DEATH HOUSE TODAY

Last Day in Sing Sing Gladdened by Visit of Prisoner's Wife

(By Associated Press.) NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—The last day of Charles Becker's stay in the death house at Sing Sing prison today was gladdened by a visit from his wife. Owing to the death of her mother, whose funeral was held yesterday, Mrs. Becker was prevented from going to the prison on Tuesday when news of the court of appeals decision, granting her husband a retrial for the murder of Herman Rosenthal, was announced from Albany.

Becker's first thought when he heard of his successful appeal was of his wife and he asked that she be notified. The meeting between the couple, who for the ten months have conversed through bars or by letter, was a happy one. Becker attempted to keep back any outward display of his joy.

Mrs. Becker brought a suit of clothes and clean linen that her husband may have the prison other than the clothing furnished by the prison. It was expected that the retrial would take Becker back to the Tombs late today or tomorrow morning, where he will be confined pending the final disposition of his case.

SECOND TRIAL UNCERTAIN

Whether Becker will be tried again as the instigator of the murder of Rosenthal, the gambler, is still problematical. Even Charles E. Whitman, the district attorney, it is said, is undecided as to what course to pursue. The center to have a second trial on the murder charge but before he reaches a decision he wishes to make a thorough study of the opinion of the court of appeals.

Jack Rose, Harry Vallor and Sam Scheppe, three of the four star witnesses for the prosecution, were last night in the city. They were seen by the grand jury and they stood ready to take the witness stand at any time.

"Bridges" Whether, the four star witness as far as a count against Becker, made no such offer. Joseph A. Shap, counsel for Becker, on his return last night went to visit to his client at Sing Sing, said:

"I do not think there will be a new trial, but if there is Becker himself will stand up for his client as long as he will spare a sensation when 'Bridges' Whether, we believe he will tell another story this time."

Mrs. C. C. Ingram, R. H. 2, Trenton, Tenn., writes: "I think no medicine like Peru-NA. Being afflicted with stomach trouble about thirty years and have taken so much medicine for it and found nothing like Peru-NA. My weight before taking Peru-NA was about one hundred and twenty-five pounds, and I was so weak I could do scarcely anything. Now I am much better and weigh one hundred and forty-five pounds."

Mr. Phil Hasterok, 3741 Ohio Ave., St. Louis, Missouri, writes: "For two years I have been troubled with colds, sore throats and swollen tonsils. For the past eighteen weeks I could not drink any cold water or warm without a sticking pain in my throat. I have doctoring with four or five good doctors as I could find in St. Louis. The two last have told me I had an abscessed tonsil and it must be cut out, but I did not like that cut out and I cut the doctor Christmas Eve. My wife had told me a friend had the same trouble and was cured with Peru-NA. I bought a bottle and tried Peru-NA. With one-half a box I was cured. I will recommend it to all my friends. Peru-NA does the work."

RESULTS OF COLDS

To Neglect a Cold in the Beginning is to Run a Pretty Big Risk

When the Liver Gets Lazy the Blood Thickens and the System Becomes Easily Susceptible to Cold and Disease. A cold is directly traceable to an inactive liver. The liver finds its efforts overcome and food remains in the stomach or bowels. The head gets hot, the feet cold and the bowels constipated. Night then and there is the danger point. The bowels must be kept open. The system must be relieved of congestion. JACOB'S LIVER SALT is the greatest known relief. It is better than cathartics. It will rejuvenate the liver, send the blood racing through the veins, dispel the congestion and make you feel as if life is worth living. JACOB'S LIVER SALT acts quickly and mildly, and never gripes or nauseates. Do not take an inferior substitute. Some stores may offer other preparations upon which they make large profits, often similar in name, but very different in action. JACOB'S LIVER SALT is safe for a large lar in druggists or sent by mail (postpaid). Jacob's Pharmacy.—(Adv.)

U. S. GOVERNMENT TO FIGHT "BLIND STAGGERS"

Wide Spread of Disease in Many States Reported—Blame Fake Cures

(By Associated Press.) WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—Because of the widespread prevalence of "blind staggers," a disease which is causing the death of thousands of horses in many States, the department of agriculture today issued a statement outlining methods for combating the malarial disease. Kansas and Nebraska have also suffered seriously. Additional deaths, it is stated, have been undoubtedly due to "fake cures." The disease, the department says, can be controlled effectively only by a total change of food and forage. "It is quite obvious," it declares "that there is a direct connection between the green forage, exposed pastures and newly cut hay or fodder which the horses eat and this cerebro-spinal meningitis, as the disease is known to scientists. In fact, eating such forage when contaminated is undoubtedly the most important cause. Over 95 per cent of cases of this disease in Kansas and Nebraska during the outbreak of 1912 were maintained under such conditions."

CRAZED NEGRO ATTEMPTS TO KILL POLICEMAN

He set the laundry with equal ease. When the vent pipe was torn the wall he had put his hand through and picked it out after which he went to bed. It was one of these he threw at the policeman.

WEST NAMED SENATOR

Will Be Sworn in as Senator Early in March—Appointment Announced Late Wednesday Afternoon

announced, Major Ulin, executive secretary, arrived at the capitol and entered the governor's office. As he made his exit, the governor came forth with the announcement of his choice.

And five minutes before I made this announcement I might have chosen any one without violating a promise," declared the governor. "I never committed myself on this matter until I finally determined that I would name Colonel West."

The appointment of Colonel West has been accepted generally as a tribute to the influence and loyalty of Clark Howell, the Atlanta editor, so long as it is believed that Mr. Howell either eliminated himself, who favored Colonel Boileff, or he was regarded as a serious contender, and all speculative speculation included his name.

CLARK HOWELL'S INFLUENCE. How, however, it was not positively Wednesday morning that Editor Howell favored Colonel West, and Boileff's situation after a different aspect, and Colonel West's stock went above par.

The weight of Mr. Howell's influence was appreciated by several of the applicants from south Georgia, but some yielded claims that were not considered as continued in the fight until the next toll with which they were faced.

It may be stated, however, that the successful applicant, Colonel West, had been in the capitol building conference and they appreciated that from a secretary who had been there for a few days with that end in view.

LOCAL TO BLAZON. "I was impressed from the beginning that Mr. West was the man for the position and my friends were good enough to regard me as the man who was the man for the position whether I am or not, but I know that I have at all times been a loyal and sincere supporter of the governor and that I have been making in the section of the state from which I come.

My enthusiasm in the help of south Georgia is not a new thing, but I believe to be for the best interest of the state and I have been very fortunate in having my friends in the upper part of the state as I have in the lower part of the state.

Naturally, I am greatly pleased at the governor's announcement that he will appoint me as senator. I consider it not only a great compliment to myself but more especially to the section of the state from which I come. It has been many years since I have had a representative in the senate of the state and I mean by that the real southern section of the state where the records will show has made the most rapid progress of any part of the state during the past generation.

I believe that all that part of Georgia will rejoice in the fact that I am aware of the fact that many distinguished men of the state were urged for this appointment and I am glad to say that if the governor had seen fit to appoint any one of the names presented to him I would have very cordially approved the appointment. The governor could not have made a mistake in naming any one of the names presented to him by the Georgians presented to his consideration.

WITH WILSON. "Now that the matter has been settled, it is in order for me to say that I am heartily in sympathy with the policy of President Wilson and the administration. No member of the senate will be more earnest than I will be in sustaining our great president and the policies of his administration. I am committed to nothing on earth but to what I believe to be the conscientious discharge of my duty, and I consider that it is the first duty of every Democrat to stand back of the president in the fight he is making for the principles on which rest the very life of our party. I shall co-operate with him to the very best of my ability.

"As regards the various appointments that may come up for consideration, I think it is also proper that I should say in the connection that I shall regard the sentimental consideration carried in the recommendations of the distinguished senator who has been named to succeed. Where it appears that a senator has been named to succeed, I will consider it my moral obligation on my part to do just what he would have done. The following sketch of Colonel West was furnished by C. O. Brantley, of Valdosta, editor of the Citizens interested in the improvement of Whitehall and Forsyth streets have written to the mayor, the city council and the finance committee asking that the streets be improved.

And five minutes before I made this announcement I might have chosen any one without violating a promise," declared the governor. "I never committed myself on this matter until I finally determined that I would name Colonel West."

CLARK HOWELL'S INFLUENCE. How, however, it was not positively Wednesday morning that Editor Howell favored Colonel West, and Boileff's situation after a different aspect, and Colonel West's stock went above par.

The weight of Mr. Howell's influence was appreciated by several of the applicants from south Georgia, but some yielded claims that were not considered as continued in the fight until the next toll with which they were faced.

It may be stated, however, that the successful applicant, Colonel West, had been in the capitol building conference and they appreciated that from a secretary who had been there for a few days with that end in view.

LOCAL TO BLAZON. "I was impressed from the beginning that Mr. West was the man for the position and my friends were good enough to regard me as the man who was the man for the position whether I am or not, but I know that I have at all times been a loyal and sincere supporter of the governor and that I have been making in the section of the state from which I come.

My enthusiasm in the help of south Georgia is not a new thing, but I believe to be for the best interest of the state and I have been very fortunate in having my friends in the upper part of the state as I have in the lower part of the state.

Naturally, I am greatly pleased at the governor's announcement that he will appoint me as senator. I consider it not only a great compliment to myself but more especially to the section of the state from which I come. It has been many years since I have had a representative in the senate of the state and I mean by that the real southern section of the state where the records will show has made the most rapid progress of any part of the state during the past generation.

I believe that all that part of Georgia will rejoice in the fact that I am aware of the fact that many distinguished men of the state were urged for this appointment and I am glad to say that if the governor had seen fit to appoint any one of the names presented to him I would have very cordially approved the appointment. The governor could not have made a mistake in naming any one of the names presented to him by the Georgians presented to his consideration.

WITH WILSON. "Now that the matter has been settled, it is in order for me to say that I am heartily in sympathy with the policy of President Wilson and the administration. No member of the senate will be more earnest than I will be in sustaining our great president and the policies of his administration. I am committed to nothing on earth but to what I believe to be the conscientious discharge of my duty, and I consider that it is the first duty of every Democrat to stand back of the president in the fight he is making for the principles on which rest the very life of our party. I shall co-operate with him to the very best of my ability.

"As regards the various appointments that may come up for consideration, I think it is also proper that I should say in the connection that I shall regard the sentimental consideration carried in the recommendations of the distinguished senator who has been named to succeed. Where it appears that a senator has been named to succeed, I will consider it my moral obligation on my part to do just what he would have done. LEO FRANK TAKS FREELY TO REPORTERS

SEES NEWSPAPER MEN FOR FIRST TIME IN JAIL

"The Murderer of Mary Phagan Was Man Who Wrote Notes," He Says

what about Conley—the man they convicted me with. He's got nothing to say to anybody.

"He's told the truth it seems to me. It seems to me to be honest to be willing to talk to anybody, to answer any questions.

"Just take his statements, pick them up, and see what you think. Does anybody believe his stories, all or his stories?"

CHARGES CONLEY LIED.

"They did Mary Phagan's face get a mark along the side of the neck? Conley says he picked her up and carried her. The physical facts of the case show her body was dragged. Didn't he lie there?"

"On May 12 he makes a statement giving a picturesque detail of himself on the day of the murder. He bought whiskey here and there; he went against the place and that he met a man, round those neck was wearing a white and bought whiskey from him.

"Don't you know I made up that story? Don't you?" He turned to one of his hearers.

He slapped his hands together, leaned back in his chair, then leaned forward and ripped the iron bar of his cell.

"Show me your copy of my case, show me of what he said afterward."

He came out of his cell.

"I'm not southern born, but I'm a southerner by adoption. I'm in instance can you take the negro's word against the white man—no detective him because he's a negro. It don't mean that but because he's proved a negro who has lied at every point."

"My life's an open book. I mean that detectives find when they want to do the work of Conley's doing? Challenge sentences, had charges, a charge of the law. Isn't that true?"

"Yes, I say it strikes me that this negro's word prevails against a white man's."

DISCUSSES CONLEY'S CASE.

"Now let's see about Conley's other statements."

"Frank leaned back in his chair and looked the clear between his teeth with a small electric lighter from his vest pocket."

The nervous emerald flash from his eyes, and his expression became cool like that of a student considering a problem.

"Since his trial he had gained fifteen pounds and looks younger. At the outset of the interview he said in a culture to have seen."

"Sit down, sit down," he said to one of the men.

"I'm glad to meet you."

"As he talked he sometimes smiled, but his manner for the most part was either emphatic or imperious as he strove with each word to confer his statement that he is innocent, and that the murderer is the man who wrote the notes found beside Mary Phagan's body."

Now for the moment he was cool and critical.

"You know on May 24 Conley made another statement that he wrote these notes at my dictation. He wrote these notes to read the notes, study them, and then see what you think. They are answer enough in themselves. They point the guilt, but they don't point it to ward me."

"Then on May 25 Conley made another statement. This time he was going to tell the whole truth—everything, and he forgot to say how the body was discovered. It was going to tell the whole truth, and direct mention one detail of greatest importance."

"If he had been telling real facts picturing something in the way it certainly happened would have been forgotten."

"He stopped short in a nervous abrupt way. But with his lips tightly shut, his head half turned, then looked directly at his hearers."

"There are more suspicious facts pointing to the negro in a manner that the prosecution has ever directed to ward me."

"I have never changed my statement, because I have told the truth and the truth cannot be changed."

NEGRO ADMITTED LYING.

"The negroist said he wrote those notes on Friday. Then he admitted that I lied about that. He said that he saw the writing was one on Saturday."

"Detectives told him in the beginning that his first stories wouldn't do. They have to give something better than that, they said. And the negro, knowing it was life and death with this gave the best imitation could suggest."

"My conviction was based on something that I believe was unwitting that sometimes I doubt it. Substitution of papers, holding back evidence—all these things were used against me. The office of the solicitor is to find the truth, not to offer up the most convenient victim."

"The law is man-made; justice is impartial. The courts try to approximate justice will law, but in my case they have missed their aim by a mile."

"The supreme court, in reaching on my appeal, considered only the legal points, and was quite proper. It left the duty of this court to go into facts—consider guilt or innocence, and the

COLLISION IS CHARGED.

Reverting to Conley's trial, Frank said:

"It is very patent and obvious that there was collision in that trial between the solicitor general and Conley's attorney. A blind man could see that there would be something to wonder about if reasonable people didn't see through it. I wonder if any innocent has been pronounced. I don't want to judge. This suggests that to my mind, to a negro. Why the detectives get the information from me that Conley could write. Suppose I dictated the notes, as he said, is it reasonable to believe that I would have furnished this information that he could write?"

"There is a great deal in the case that is mysterious," he said.

"I understand that Burns, the detective, has been employed. Maxhago Burns will make them sit up and take notice. If that is he finds it. They say he is a great detective. I haven't seen him. I don't know if he's there. I understand he is writing some notes to a book and has someone interested in this case. Maxhago Burns will show us this entire matter."

The remark was made that a good many people are not satisfied with the solution that has been offered of the case.

"There are lots of people who are not satisfied," Frank agreed. "I, of course, am not satisfied. I am innocent."

He offered some cigarettes to the newspaper men through the bars of his cell.

"I don't care to comment on Dr. Harris," he answered. "It is not for me to pass judgment on that."

He answered, "I will let the people of this community judge if it was proper for his officials to conceal evidence which would have eliminated me from any connection with this crime. I will let the people of this community judge if it was 'for the sake of official duty' to allow suppression of the truth. Certainly it is not up to the state's official to break the neck of an innocent person's ambitions. It is not many. It is not many."

He acted as a man throughout this thing. I have stood firm up to the issue. I haven't dodged at all. I have answered all the questions asked me."

Regarding the story from New York about the Forney woman saying that detectives made her drunk to get an affidavit from her against Frank, he explained:

"I don't that awful I feel like clover when he said 'O tempora, O mores!' The prisoner waved his hands impatiently and said:

"Gentlemen, I don't ask for sympathy. I don't need sympathy. I do

GIVE US MEN

(FROM READ BY FRANK TO NEWSPAPER REPORTERS)

During his conversation with the newspaper men Thursday

Leo M. Frank, while discussing the attitude and obligation resting upon men, asked permission to read Oliver Wendell Holmes' poem entitled "Give Us Men."

"You need not publish it," said Frank, "but it will give you an insight into what I mean when I say that all I wanted was manly treatment from manly men. This is not a verse from the Bible, but nevertheless, I am inclined to believe its author was inspired when he wrote it. It fits so well in with the thought now in my mind."

Then he read from a little booklet which he picked up from a table:

God, give us men! A time like this demands
Strong minds, great hearts, true faith and ready hands;
Men whom the lust of lucre does not kill;
Men whose spoils of office can not buy;
Men who possess opinions and a will;
Men who have honor; men who will not let
Men who can stand before a demagogue,
And damn his treacherous flatteries without winking,
Till men, sun-crowded, and lying above the fog,
—a public duty and its private thinking.

Wrong rules the land, and waiting Justice sleeps.

need a square deal, and I haven't had it yet. But I believe the people of Georgia yet will see to it that I am given one. I never saw this Forney woman and wouldn't know her if I were to see her now. The story she has given out today, though, shows the methods used to create prejudice against me in the public mind."

Asked about Albert McKenzie's statements, one for the prosecution and the other for the defense, he said:

"I don't know him, either. He said he was at my home on that day. But you can take it from me he was not, nor while I was there."

"You know what I said in my statement the other day about truth being on the march? Well, it was a rather singular coincidence that a day or two later, 'The Atlanta Journal' developed from Dr. Harris that the hair found on the table handle on the second floor of the hotel factory was not that of Mary Phagan."

"When I expressed confidence that the truth would out, I knew nothing of this. When I go to bed at night, I think and the full truth will be known sooner or later. I don't make this plea from my own individuality; my individuality stands out of consideration. I don't care a public. They can easily take it, what I plead for is truth, and justice. God almighty will see to it that the truth eventually prevail."

TO BE SENTENCED.

Frank will probably be arranged in the criminal division of the superior court the first part of next week and a new date for his execution set by Judge Ben H. Hill.

While his attorney, Luther Z. Benson, and Robert R. Arnold, are certain to make an extraordinary motion for a new trial for the convicted man, this motion can be filed at any time before the execution, and it is probable the attorneys will wait several weeks before their next move.

The law requires that not less than twenty nor more than sixty days shall expire between the day a defendant is re-sentenced and the date of his execution. It is probable, therefore, that the

But Two Days Between You and the End of the Blue Tag Furniture Prices.

When the doors swing to Saturday night for the last time in February it will mark the passing of the greatest February furniture business we have ever done.

And the reason is not hard to find. Those who have come have found that the furniture was the right sort, that the prices did not measure its real worth. With the exception of contract furniture on which we are obligated by the makers to maintain prices—there is not a piece of furniture in the five floors of the store that is not reduced at least 10 per cent, and from that the reductions go to 40 per cent.

And a reduction on such furniture as this is indeed a saving!

It is furniture that is made rightly by people who know how to put grace and service and long life into it.

Is there any wonder that the low prices have carried so much of such furniture into the homes of Atlanta and vicinity?

There are two days more of these prices—tomorrow and Saturday.

They may be made days of saving on every piece of furniture that you need. Make the most of them!

THOMSON-COCHRAN PLAN IS RAPPED BY WATERS

County Board Chairman Denounces Proposal to Enlarge It to 15 Members

Tull C. Waters, chairman of the Fulton county board, is vigorously opposed to the plan of A. D. Thomson, J. O. Cochran and others to enlarge the county board from five to fifteen members...

It was in opposition to this suggestion that Mr. Thomson and Mr. Cochran on Wednesday announced their intention of introducing in the county democratic executive committee a resolution providing that there be submitted to the voters of Fulton county at the forthcoming county primary the question of enlarging the board from five to fifteen as outlined.

Mr. Waters in a caustic rejoinder is now quoted as saying the Thomson-Cochran plan is a ward politics scheme pure and simple. In other words, Mr. Waters declares a division of the county into fifteen districts with one representative from each district would throw county affairs into the same tangled politics that now characterizes the city government, with its ten wards each having representatives in the general council.

Mr. Waters argues that a much more sensible handling of city affairs would be obtained under his plan than three commissioners giving their entire time at adequate salaries and being held directly responsible by the people.

DEMONSTRATIONS ARE POSTPONED BY WEATHER

Because of the bad weather Wednesday the Human Park demonstration was postponed until a later date. As soon as such a date is chosen the date will be announced.

The correct date for the Georgia Baptist Hospital demonstration day is March 3, from 10:30 o'clock in the morning until 5:30 in the afternoon. An error was made in announcing this date previously.

THEATERS

ATLANTA—Extra Two. FORBES—Vanderbilt. TROTT—The Millionaire. From Broadway. "LIFE"—The Wymann.

Special Night Show in "Maritette," a musical diversionist by Maurice Volz, is announced as the attraction at the Atlanta for four performances beginning with a matinee today, supported by a company of seventy-five and a ballet of sixty.

Mrs. Thaw's managing director, F. Ray Comstock and Morris East, have supplied her with what is said to be a clever musical play and a company of well known artists. One of the features is a ballet of sixty, under the direction of Emil August, the former director of the famous ballet at the Alhambra theater, London.

In addition to "Maritette" a number of American and European novelties are introduced, including "Harvard and West," "The Courtney Sisters," "The Schwarz Company," "Around Brothers," and others. There will be a matinee every day during Mrs. Thaw's engagement at the Atlanta.

John Drew returns to the Atlanta Tuesday and Wednesday with two new plays of the kind that once made the star-gazing a pleasure for the cultivated. Mr. Drew has long enjoyed the reputation of being the best actor of light comedy on the American stage, and in his latest successes in which he will appear here, he discloses new phases of his brilliant art. Charles Frohman, under whose direction he appears, had a happy inspiration in choosing for him two interesting plays—"The Tyranny of Tears," by C. Madison Chambers, and "The Will," by J. M. Harris. Seats go on sale Friday.

No play presented this season at the Bijou has attracted more attention than "In Wymann," which is being given in a splendid production by Eddie Black and his associate players. The offering is a striking good example in four acts of the scenes of which are laid in the far west and afford opportunity for picturesque effects.

The well balanced company presents the play in admirable fashion. Eddie Black has a comedy role that fits him nicely and he extracts a great deal of fun from the lines. He is a great favorite with Bijou melodrama fans. His performance is a signal for a favorable demonstration.

Vernon Wallace, the young leading man makes a capital "companion." He swaggers through the part of Bob Rickard with a confidence and approval on the part of his friends in the audience—and they are legion. Miss Marie Claire, the leading woman, never appeared to better advantage. This week she is seen in the role of a young "schoolmarm." Her acting is splendid.

With all the other members of the company all the other members of the company

MAYOR PRO TEM. CANDLER IS GOING TO HOT SPRINGS

Condition Said to Be Serious. Absence Has Important Bearing on City Affairs

Alderman John E. Candler, of the Ninth ward, mayor pro tem of Atlanta, who has been seriously ill at his home in Duke Hill for a week or ten days, will leave next Saturday for Hot Springs.

The alderman's condition is understood to be serious. He is suffering with rheumatism and the members of his family fear he is on the verge of a nervous breakdown. They want him to get away from his business affairs and from the affairs of the city government entirely, so he may rest. For this reason they have insisted on his going to Hot Springs.

Alderman Candler's absence will have an important bearing on city affairs, and more especially if it is prolonged, which is not unlikely. He is one of the five members of the aldermanic board who have held up the Greatly Hospital with a broken hip, there were nine aldermen left to vote and this placed the five aldermen who are opposing the sheet in the majority. The absence of Alderman Candler will leave the other four who oppose the sheet in a controlling position, since a majority of four voting in the aldermanic board is necessary to concur in any action of council. The absence of Candler and Harwell leaves eight, so the four aldermen can still block the sheet by tying the vote in the aldermanic board.

But should Alderman Harwell improve sufficiently to return to the city hall, with Alderman Candler in away, his vote would be cast in favor of the sheet, which would pass it by a vote of five in four. Of course the sheet may not be held up this long, but the chances are of the situation are being discussed with lively interest in city hall.

The absence of Alderman Candler will put Alderman I. N. Harwell in the chair as presiding officer of the general council and in the event of Mayor Woodruff's absence or disability, would place him in the mayor's chair. His position is that of provisional mayor. Previous to that time a provisional officer in the absence of the mayor or when he is selected at such meeting of council. The provisional mayor position is chosen by a vote of the general council, the same as the mayor position.

Lenten Services Are Now Being Held in Atlanta Churches

With the beginning of Lent, Wednesday, Atlanta entered upon the annual period of her penitence and meditation.

Union services will be held each Thursday night in the Episcopal churches, beginning with this Thursday in St. Philip's cathedral. On March 2 the union services will be held in all Atlanta churches, with Rev. L. R. Richards preaching, on March 12, in the Church of the Incarnation, with Rev. W. W. Manning in the pulpit; March 19, St. Luke's, Rev. Dr. C. T. A. Filer; March 26, Church of the Holy Comforter, Rev. Dr. C. B. Wilmer, and April 2, Church of the Episcopal churches will have special services. At the cathedral they will be held daily at 8:30 and 4.

The program of services at the Sacred Heart is typical of that to be followed by each of the Catholic churches in the city. Mass will be said each morning at 8, 9:30, 1 and 8 o'clock. On Wednesday and Friday evenings there will be devotions, beginning at 8 o'clock, with the stations of the cross each Friday evening. DR. BROUGHTON PREDICTS GREAT BIBLE CONFERENCE

Former Atlanta Minister Sends Good Wishes for Meeting Here in March

From Christ church, London, Dr. Len G. Broughton, who organized the Atlanta Bible conference in 1888 and conducted it annually for fourteen years, has written to express his well wishes for the sixteenth annual conference, which begins Sunday, and to predict that it will be the greatest in the organization's history.

The letter, which is addressed to Dr. Sol C. Dickey, who will be director of the conference, is as follows: "Dear Dr. Dickey: I have just received yours of November 23 and thank you for the same. I rejoice more than you will ever know that you are going to take your force into Atlanta, and direct the March Bible conference. This conference has ever been near my heart and when I found it was impossible for me to attend this coming March, I at once turned to you, and as you know, did all I could to get you to include it in your chain of conferences. I know your ability to direct such conferences and I most heartily congratulate the Atlanta conference for the coming season and I most heartily congratulate the Atlanta conference and I pray that you are to have such a platform as you are furnishing."

"Of course, I need not say the fact that Dr. Campbell Morgan is to be there is in itself a great satisfaction to me. I know Dr. Morgan's great grip on the Atlanta conference and I pray that you are to have such a platform as you are furnishing."

How to Make Better Cough Syrup than You Can Buy

A full pint of cough syrup—as much as you could buy for $2.00—can easily be made at home. You will find nothing that takes hold of the ordinary cough more quickly, usually, costing less in a case of 24 hours. Excellent, too, for spasmodic cough, whooping cough, bronchial asthma and laryngitis. One ounce of granulated sugar with 16 pint of warm water, and stir for 15 minutes. Put 1/2 ounce of Pinet (100 cents worth) in a pint bottle, the said Sugar Syrup. It does not curdle. Take a teaspoonful every one or two hours. This is just laxative enough to help relieve the cough. Also stimulates the appetite, which is usually upset by a cough. The taste is pleasant. The effect is rapid. The cough syrup on the (infants) members is well known. It is pleasant and other natural healing pine elements. Other preparation, such as your Pinet Syrup, has often been limited, at its old cost, to a small amount. It is now used in more homes than any other cough remedy. A guaranty of absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded, with this preparation. Your druggist has Pinet, or will let it for you. If not send to The Place Co., St. Wayne, Ind.

Bisland Joins Mgr. Rickey at Training Camp

Cracker Short Fielder Passes Through Atlanta En Route to St. Petersburg—Has Heard Nothing of Move to Send Him Back to Minors—Looks Fine

Bu Inns Brown

R. Livingston Bisland may be slated for a job atop at the hands of Branch Rickey, commander-in-chief of the baseball forces representing the city of St. Louis in the American league, but if such is the case, Bisland does not know it, and he enjoys a fairly close acquaintance with Mr. Rickey. This much from Bisland himself direct.

Wednesday afternoon he pulled into Atlanta en route to the Brown's training camp at St. Petersburg, Fla. Except for the fact that the latter has three hours late and the weather suitable for fishing, nothing else was to be heard from him. Rickey, however, never had any occasion to doubt his word in the matter. After a manager in the Southern league was looking fine and he was apparently ready to skin off his heavy winter, grab a hat and line out in a pinch, he was told that training whatever.

Commish Makes Change in Rules

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—The national commission yesterday announced several important changes in its rules, changes made to comply with the agreement recently reached with the Players' hierarchy. It has been amended to read as follows:

THE SPOTLIGHT BY GRANTLAND RICE

Tuesday, the 24th of February, isn't a national holiday—yet. But it will be some day. For on the 24th of February, 1874—forty years ago, if you desire further details—John Henry Wagner appeared in Carnegie, Pa., with a 300 knock in his eye as he took his first glimpse of a newly discovered realm.

There are a number of eulogies that we expect to shoot at Mr. Wagner later on, but here in the main one and a world's record that may never again be touched. He is the only being that ever lived who passed into his fortieth year without ever having batted below .300. The living Tanton has averaged .300 or better for eighteen years, seventeen of which were spent under the roof of the Big Tent—a showing that we believe will stand for all time.

THE DUTCHMAN'S START.
The first authentic record of Wagner as a ball player starts with Steubenville in 1893. No records were kept of that club, so there are no figures to be passed on into history.

But a year later, in 1894, he started with Paterson in the Atlantic league and he started by hitting .348 his first year out. 1897 he worked twenty-four games for Paterson and batted .379. He was shifted to Louisville to finish the season, where in sixty-one games he batted .344, and since that date, seventeen seasons ago, he has bludgeoned his way through National league competition without falling below the classic mark. Two years ago Honus caught up with Pop Anson, who had batted .350 or better for fifteen consecutive seasons, and now the Dutchman is two years on beyond any consecutive .350 mark ever set in the history of the game.

JUST A FEW RECORDS.
Wagner's grand average for 17 years, continuous big league service is .347. He has played in over 2,200 games, has been at the bat over 8,600 times, and has made over 2,800 runs. His greatest average was .386, made in 1890, the first year he played with Louisville. His lowest average was last season, when he barely attained .300, but managed to scramble safely through after a slow start, due to an injured leg.

NO ONE CLOSE.
Having recorded a .300 average for 17 years, Wagner now finds no one else. Only seven players in addition to the mighty Honus have averaged .300 or better for 10 consecutive seasons, coming in this order: Anson, 15 years; Dan Brouthers, 14 years; Willie Keeler, 13 years; Ed Delahanty and Joe Kelley, 11 years each; Hugh Duffy, Nap Lajoie and Jess Burkett, 10 years each.

MOST VALUABLE PLAYER.
Wagner, commonly known as the German Navy, has undoubtedly been the most valuable ball player that ever lived. In addition to his wonderful work at bat, he has been fully as remarkable around short where he has knocked down or cut off more baselines with his heavy paw than he ever made at bat. He has ranged all over the field—has been a wonder at leading base-runners and backing up his mates and in no single department of the game has he ever shown the essence of a weakness.

OFF THE BENCH.
This eminent Tanton has a record on the field even more remarkable. In all this latter day craze of outside theatrical and literary art among leading athletes, Wagner has been one of the few, the very few who has been content to stick to his profession, and give it dignity above any approach.

TO, C. W. W.
Mr. W.—What are your terms for applying the Murphy treatment to a pair of guys I know down in Mexico? Does $5,000,000 sound like a fair price? Rush answer.
W. W. (Washington, D. C.)

WHAT'S ALL.
"Now that Murphy's out of it," queries E. L. K., "what the deuce have you got left to write about?"
Not very much. Practically nothing in fact, outside of Ty Cobb, Benn Wray, Joe Jackson, This Speaker, Walter Johnson, Henne Zim, the Feds, Jerry Travers, Francis Dummet, McLoughlin, Norris Williams, Willie Ritchie, Garbost Smith, the next polo ensemble, the Davis Cup, international golf, the Michigan-Harvard game and the dash for the Americas cup. Outside of these few details and 400 or 500 other minor matters of equal unimportance, the abdication of Col. Murphy leaves us practically flat. But in spite of the terrific setback to our material, we hope to continue to write for you.

Mathewson Has Not Announced Decision Yet

Giants' Star Pitcher Leaves Coast for Training Camp, Without Replying to Federal Offer—New York Club Entertains Little Fear of Losing Him

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb. 25.—Christy Mathewson, the New York National league pitcher who has been offered the berth of the manager of the Brooklyn Federal league club left here yesterday for Marine Springs, Tex., the spring training camp of the New York Giants. He carried with him his unsigned contract to play with the Giants, and while retaining his intention to accept seriously the Federal offer, declared he was content to continue in terms with the New York National league.

Gilmore Is Hopeful
NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—Mathewson has not yet replied to my telegram, which leads me to believe that his disposition has started him to "blinking," said President Gilmore of the Federal league, last night, referring to the new league's attempt to interest the New York National pitcher in an offer to align himself with the Federal.

Manager Hedrow expects his former Olympic hero to prove valuable man this year.

Several teams have reported that Stone Mountain is very discourteous to visiting prep teams when they journey down to the Mountain City to engage in games.

It was reported that after the Tech High game Tuesday, the Mountain team "hooked" Tech High and played entirely too rough during the game.

POULTRY, PIGEONS AND LIVE STOCK
Some Things That Will Help You Make Your Hens Lay

During the past winter production has been a problem with many people that have been laid off. There are several reasons why hens have not produced eggs in abundance during the past winter. In the first place, a great many hens were not about moult and did not finish their molt until late in December. However, where they have been properly fed and are not too old to lay many hens have produced eggs through the entire winter, while some others have not produced an egg.

The best system of raising eggs is to keep one of the standard laying mash feeds in a self-feeding trough, dry before some hens at all times. Oyster shell, charcoal and grit should be kept in separate partitions, where it can be had at all times. Among the different feeds there is nothing better than Anker's, which has been thoroughly studied and a balance ration made out of the different ingredients, and with this dry mash I believe it is possible to secure eggs the year around, where it is kept constantly before your hens.

In addition to the above named materials they should have every day some or less green food of some kind. Where green food cannot be had nice, well cured alfalfa hay mixed with it and grain feed. A hen should be put in the scratch pen at least twice a week. Then hens will eat the leaves, then the stems and it practically takes the place of green food. When a hen has a sufficient amount of alfalfa hay their egg will be a bright, rich yellow, and when this green is not supplied the yolk will be pale or light yellow. Green food that has the color of the yolk of an egg, and well-cured alfalfa hay will have the same effect. Another green food in coloring the yolk of an egg, and in supplying the necessary calcium for the production of eggs is clover. Some clover is a good health and are not too old to lay, they are better to change for one feeding eggs to a certain extent.

EXAMINATIONS FOR CIVIL SERVICE TO START HERE

Many Government Positions Open for Young Men—Girls Sought for Nurses

Beginning March 2 and continuing through April 15, 1914, examinations for excellent government positions ranging in salary from $400 to $4,000 per year will be held throughout the fifth civil service district, embracing the states of Georgia, South Carolina, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi and Tennessee, under the direction of District Superior Butler B. Hara, who recently assumed charge of this division with headquarters in Atlanta.

The most important of these examinations is that on March 2, for an assistant chief for the bureau of chemistry, at a salary of $4,000. Applicants for this position must be between thirty and forty-five years of age. The next position in remunerative value is that of assistant in the laboratory, Madison, Wis. The pay is $2,500 per annum, and the age limit from thirty to fifty years.

Another examination that will probably draw the next largest number of applicants is that for inspector of mechanical and electrical engineering. This pays a salary on a scale from $2,180 to $3,000 a year. The candidates should be attractive to graduates of technological schools in the United States, who are in thirty years or over. The examination for this position will be held in the office of the supervising architect of the treasury department, and other agencies as they occur.

In only one instance is female help sought, and this for trained nurses at Fort Meigs school, Arizona. Menstruators agency, New Mexico, and the Fort Meigs school, Arizona. Male nurses are wanted for the Indian camp zone. Indian reservations and the Philippines. The salary for these positions is $750 per annum, the examinations to be held April 15.
